The dispatch was as follows: "It was learned on the highest congressional authority by the Evening Journal today that Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin will resign without delay."

"It was also revealed that President Roosevelt and his advisers felt that Woodin's value as a member of the cabinet had been ruined by disclosures that he was on the J. P. Morgan 'favored customers' lists."

FRANK L. SHAW IS VICTOR IN MAYOR'S RACE

Apparently Six Incumbents On L. A. Council Defeated For Office

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—(UP)—Frank L. Shaw, chairman of County Supervisors, was elected mayor of Los Angeles for the next four years, complete unofficial returns showed today.

He defeated John C. Porter, incumbent, in yesterday's election by an estimated 31,542 votes.

Shaw received 187,053 votes and Porter 155,519.

Ten councilmen were elected, although the outcome in several districts still was uncertain, apparently six incumbents have been unseated. Edward W. Hauck, George McDill, Stewart O. Mertz and William H. Henry were elected to the school board by apparent majorities of nearly 2 to 1. They defeated incumbents.

Shaw shot away to an early lead in the voting and retained the margin throughout the balloting, which was spirited. He pledged a "new deal."

The mayor-elect said a liberal policy would mark his tenure of office. He assumes his duties July 1.

Shaw was born in Canada and came to this country at the age of 5. Because of this fact—the questioned citizenship of Shaw—a bitter fight ensued throughout the campaign.

Conceding his defeat, Mayor Porter said he had not raised the question of Shaw's citizenship.

CHARLES MITCHELL IS CROSS EXAMINED

NEW YORK, June 7.—(UP)—The government resumed today its attack on Charles E. Mitchell, claiming that he had no intention of evading income tax laws when he sold two large blocks of stock establishing a technical "loss" of approximately $4,000,000 for 1929 and 1930.

The former chairman of the National City bank and its affiliates testified emphatically under the cross examination of federal Attorney George Z. Mediate yesterday that he sold the stock with the purest of motives because he had given up all of his other possessions "for the good of the bank."

SAN DIEGO GIVEN STATE TIDELANDS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 7.—(UP)—The city of San Diego today acquired the state's interest in all tidelands and submerged lands in the bay, within the city boundaries.

The governor signed a bill providing for the transfer. The measure set forth the lands should be used for harbor development.

The bill specifically stated, however, that "nothing in this act shall be construed to grant any tidelands of Mission Bay or of its entrance, or affect the act of June 15, 1929, providing for a state park on Mission Bay."

ARMY, NAVY MEN IN HAWAII ATTACKED

HONOLULU, T. H., June 7.—(UP)—Army and navy men have become targets for an outbreak of attacks by civilian gangs, causing apprehension in high military and naval circles, it was reported today.

The reports gained impetus when Lieuts. LeRoy Hudson and Walter Lee, army aviators, were admitted to a hospital for treatment of painful injuries. The pilots were set upon by hoodlums while driving with women companions, and left unconscious on the roadside.

Four suspects were arrested. Arthur Carter, Melvin Pace, Brede Karratti and John Kamana.

NEW L. A. MAYOR

GERMANY GIVES OKAY TO FOUR POWER TREATY

Mussolini Proclaims Pact In Meeting Of Senate This Evening

BULLETIN
ROME, June 7.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini's four-power pact, designed to assure peace in Europe, was initiated tonight by Italy, Great Britain, France and Germany.

ROME, June 7.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini, once feared as a fire brand, proclaimed in the senate tonight his treaty binding Europe's chief powers to keep the peace for ten years.

Weeks of quiet negotiations, followed by many days of delicate bargaining among the four powers which must be in participation on any major European war, ended tonight with news that Germany had accepted the draft, a patchwork of compromise, that previously had been accepted by Italy, Great Britain and France.

Mussolini was given a tremendous ovation when he entered the senate and finally had to begin his speech to stop the applause.

He briefly outlined the various peace agreements signed since the war and declared that the Locarno treaty (which ended German reparations payments) was a milestone in the history of peace.

The maintenance of normal conditions in all countries of the world depends more or less on normal relations between the four European powers, he said.

Unemployed Hear Economist Soon

FULLERTON, June 7.—The executive board of the county council of unemployed associations set June 22 as the date for a public meeting at the Santa Ana high school at 7:30 p. m. and it is hoped that Dr. Thomas Walter Mills, famous lecturer and an economist and author of note, will address the meeting, according to L. E. McGraw, chairman of the board.

McGraw, with other members of the board, Tuesday visited Compton and the central associations in Los Angeles county to study operations, and to learn ways and means of making their organization more effective in care of the unemployed.

AMERICAN SOLO Flier Sighted Over Siberia

Jimmy Mattern Believed To Have Reached Chita, En Route Around World

NOVOSIBIRSK, Siberia, June 7.—(UP)—Jimmy Mattern, American aviator, was sighted at 1:10 a. m. (Greenwich mean time) today, enroute to Chita. One ten a. m. G.M.T. is 9:10 p. m. E.D.T. and 6:10 a. m. Omsk time.

Mattern was flying so high he was barely visible.

Novo-Sibirsk is approximately 400 miles east of Omsk.

MOSCOW, June 7.—(UP)—Soviet officials felt today it was likely Jimmy Mattern had landed his airplane in Chita, Siberia. News of his arrival, however, may be long delayed. Urgent telegrams from Chita often are delayed 19 to 20 hours before reaching Moscow.

News of Mattern being sighted over Novo-Sibirsk was telephoned to the United Press bureau here. The telephone line ends at Novo-Sibirsk. Officials of the airdrome there told the United Press that weather conditions were good and there was every reason to believe the flight was proceeding smoothly.

GREAT BRITAIN IS SILENT ON DEBTS

LONDON, June 7.—(UP)—President Roosevelt evidently has declined to make a statement this week reassuring European war debtors, it was indicated today.

That interpretation was placed on an official announcement which said: "Great Britain is awaiting no war debt message from Washington."

The cabinet thus is forced to make its own perplexing decision and take the responsibility for what happens.

London is continuing its debt conferences in Washington. While the United States delegates to the world economic conference are expected here to discuss a final settlement, the burden of the conversation will rest on Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador.

SOUTHERN STATES DRY WORKERS MEET

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 7.—(UP)—Anti-Saloon league superintendents of several southern states met in executive session here today under leadership of F. Scott McBride, national superintendent, to map plans for an attempt to solidify the south against the 21st amendment.

Among prominent dry leaders at the meeting was Bishop James M. Cannon, of Washington.

"If the south stands firm on the 18th amendment," Bishop Cannon said, "repeal will fail. But I offer no predictions as to what the south will do."

INDIANA VOTES FOR AMENDMENT REPEAL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 7.—(UP)—Indiana favors repeal of the 18th amendment by nearly two to one majority, results of yesterday's election indicated today.

Returns from all but a few scattered precincts revealed that of the 329 delegates elected to the state convention June 26, 252 will favor repeal and 77 will oppose it.

Unofficial returns from 3565 of the state's 3691 precincts gave: For repeal 532,653. Against repeal 295,561.

Indiana was the first state in which there was doubt of the outcome to vote on repeal.

CYRUS CURTIS DIES AT HOME THIS MORNING

Publisher Of Saturday Evening Post Succumbs At Age Of 83 Years

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—(UP)—Cyrus H. K. Curtis, newspaper and magazine publisher died at his home at Wyncote, a Philadelphia suburb, at 2:10 a. m. today after a lingering illness. Curtis would have been 83 years old on June 18.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the Curtis home.

At Curtis' bedside were his daughter, Mrs. Mary Louise Curtis Bok; two grandsons, W. Curtis Bok and Cary (CQ) W. Bok; Mrs. John C. Martin, a stepdaughter, and Mr. Martin, vice president of the Curtis-Martin newspapers; Mrs. Pearson Wells of Detroit, a stepdaughter; Dr. Martin E. Roberts, Philadelphia, and Dr. Freeman Brown of Rockland, Me.

Heart Attack
Mrs. Curtis died May 31, 1932, shortly after her husband suffered a heart attack from which he never fully recovered.

Curtis' life was in the American tradition—the poor boy who made good. He started his newspaper career as a newsboy in Portland, Me. The Curtis family had a background extending to 1632, but had little else. At 15, he bought a second-hand press and started a paper. A fire ended the venture.

"I liked the smell of the paper and ink," Curtis explained in later years.

Errand Boy
As an errand boy in Boston he saved enough money to start another paper, but it was a failure. Then he went to Philadelphia and started the People's Ledger, a third edition extending to 1632, but had little else. At 15, he bought a second-hand press and started a paper. A fire ended the venture.

"I liked the smell of the paper and ink," Curtis explained in later years.

In 1890 Curtis founded the Curtis Publishing company and seven years later purchased the Saturday Evening Post. In 1911 he bought the Country Gentleman.

Then followed a period of rapid expansion in the newspaper field. In 1913 Curtis took over the Public Ledger, a year later he started publication of the Evening Public Ledger. In July, 1918, he purchased the Evening Telegram and two years later the Philadelphia Press, which he merged with the Morning Public Ledger. In 1925 he purchased the Philadelphia North American and in 1930 the Philadelphia Inquirer.

He acquired the New York Evening Post in 1923.

His hobbies were music and yachting. His boat, the Lydonia, is considered one of the finest pleasure crafts afloat.

MINE WORKERS AND PICKETS IN CLASH

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 7.—(UP)—Miners and pickets clashed in a bitter battle at the Peerless mine of the Peabody Coal Co., today and five were struck down by bullets and three more by stones.

A detachment of national guardsmen rushed from Taylorville and finally halted the conflict.

The clash was the most serious in the intermittent Illinois mine war in many weeks. Condemnation of nine members will be appointed by the governor. Petition of two-thirds of producers of one crop would be sufficient, if the commission deemed advisable, to create a pro-rate zone.

President's Regulations 'Inadequate'

Dispute Over Vets' Economies Grows Hotter As Conference Called

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(UP)—Insurgent leaders of the house today rejected flatly President Roosevelt's compromise in the bitter dispute over veterans' economies.

New executive regulations, estimated to restore between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000 of the previous $420,000,000 reduction effected by President Roosevelt, were attacked as "inadequate" by Rep. Patman, Dem., Texas, and others of the powerful soldiers' bloc.

This group, anticipating complete victory, will press on for house acceptance of a senate rider to the independent offices appropriation bill which adds $170,000,000 to ex-servicemen's allowances.

Some administration supporters, however, believed the president's action might bring many revolting congressmen back in line. Speaker Rainey expressed belief Mr. Roosevelt would not sign the bill if the senate provisions were retained.

The house democratic steering committee, which had been ready to kick over the administration traces and go on record in favor of the senate rider, will meet with the president today. The chief executive will seek to bring into line this key group of congressional leaders, who have considerable influence with the rank and file of members.

Upon the results of this meeting may depend the success or failure of the compromise. Many of the policy-forming group have been leaders in the congressional revolt against the White House. Original murmurs against alleged "injustices" to veterans were conveyed to the White House through a sub-committee of the policy group.

Critics of the administration compromise, among them Rep. Connerly, Mass., influential member of the steering committee, said they were dissatisfied with the treatment accorded Spanish-American war veterans and also World War ex-servicemen with disabilities merely presumed to be traceable to war service.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IS VISITOR IN STATE

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today was enjoying what she hoped would be a quiet visit with her son, Elliott.

She arrived last night by airplane from Tucson, Ariz., and was given an enthusiastic welcome by a large crowd including a group of notables headed by Gov. James Rolph Jr., Mayor John C. Porter and Will Rogers.

Her arrival was to have been a quiet, informal affair. It was just the opposite. Batteries of photographers, movie-tone sound cameras, and officials in formal evening attire greeted her as she stepped from her plane, smiling and waving a gay greeting to the crowd.

DRASTIC FARM BILL SIGNED BY ROLPH

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 7.—(UP)—Revolutionary change in marketing of California's agricultural products was provided today in the drastic farm pro-rate bill approved by Governor Rolph.

Briefly, the measure sets up a legal machinery by which the crop of any one farm product can be curtailed on an equal basis, thus preventing a market glut and stabilizing the market.

The bill is designed to prevent ruinous overproduction, to check irresponsible agrarians from upsetting a steady market.

An agricultural pro-rate commission of nine members will be appointed by the governor. Petition of two-thirds of producers of one crop would be sufficient, if the commission deemed advisable, to create a pro-rate zone.

INCOME TAXES ARE PROBED IN MORGAN'S QUIZ

Inquiry Turns To Tax Matters After Resolution Passed By Committee

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(UP)—Organization of special subsidiary companies to take advantage of income tax exemptions was revealed today in the questioning of O. P. Van Sweringen, Cleveland railroad magnate, during the senate Morgan inquiry.

The information regarding Van Sweringen income taxes was disclosed during questioning of Van Sweringen regarding the purpose behind information of the General Securities Corporation in May, 1927.

The inquiry was recessed at 12:45 until 2 p. m.

The inquiry turned to the income tax matters after the senate banking and currency committee drafted a resolution under which it could proceed to investigate securities sales of partners in J. P. Morgan and Company, with special reference to tax payments.

Van Sweringen, a more willing witness than during his two days of previous testimony, began the session by disclosing that the vast Van Sweringen railroad organization was built up from an original "shoe-string" investment of $1,000,000.

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, said during the luncheon recess that the taxes escaped by the Van Sweringens through organization of subsidiaries as mediums for exchanging stocks ran into millions of dollars although he had not been able to compute the exact amount.

Van Sweringen acknowledged that the purpose was to avoid by a legal means the payment of taxes.

"This is the first time we have been able to show from a witness that the purpose of these subsidiaries is in many cases to avoid paying taxes," Pecora said.

"It is legal. This inquiry is designed to bring out such weaknesses as this in the tax laws passed by congress."

The instance of the general securities corporation was developed by Pecora as an example of how it is worked, his aides said later.

"The process is typical of numerous holding companies. They organize a third company and then by transferring stock through it avoid showing any profit on the books," Pecora said.

In the general securities transaction to which Van Sweringen testified 225,000 shares of stock were involved, carrying a large margin of potential profit, the exact amount of which has not been computed.

AKRON, Ohio, June 7.—(UP)—The price increases as high as nine per cent were put in effect today at major rubber company outlets throughout the nation.

Increases as high as 15 per cent also were put in effect for tubes.

The rise was the second in the last five weeks. On May 1 prices were advanced.

CABINET TO TAKE ACTION ON ATTITUDE

Defaulted December Payment Will Not Be Paid; Hope England Passes

TWO REASONS GIVEN
Daladier Fears Overthrow Of Government Should June Payment Be Made

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press)
PARIS, June 7.—(UP)—The French government does not propose to pay either the defaulted December 15 war debt payment to the United States nor the one due June 15.

Although the cabinet has not formally made its decision, the United Press learned the government's attitude from an unimpeachable official source.

The government, especially Premier Edouard Daladier, opposes payment for the following reasons:

Firstly, they know they would be overthrown by the Socialists and Nationalists in the chamber of deputies if they paid.

Secondly, they have been led to believe that Washington would prefer the debtor nations to default rather than voluntarily grant them revision.

It was understood the French hope Britain also will default June 15, believing it would precipitate a general settlement and aid the success of the World Economic conference. They believe the conference must be accompanied by a general debt settlement as well as stabilization of currencies, if it is to achieve anything worth while.

Government circles said the only chance for a change of attitude on the part of the French population would be a gesture by President Roosevelt, which they now finally are convinced is impossible in the face of the attitude of congress.

French politicians argue now the same as they argued against former Premier Edouard Herriot, whose government was defeated on the debt issue. "Payments from Germany were stopped by international agreement; France cannot pay the United States unless Germany pays France."

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE BANK LOANS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 7.—(UP)—Investigation of loan policies of the closed California Trust & Savings bank was planned when the Sacramento county grand jury late today resumes its probe of events leading up to the failure of the institution last January.

Details of bond accounting by which a profit was shown and a dividend paid when actually shrinkage in values would have shown a loss were revealed last yesterday in testimony of Mark R. Skinner, former vice president of the bank.

"It couldn't be considered good banking," Skinner testified. "But, early in 1932, the controller of the currency and later the state departments permitted banks to carry securities at 'book value' rather than 'actual value,' in hopes that better times would come and raise prices."

RELIEF FROM HEAT PROMISED MIDWEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 7.—(UP)—Thunderstorms, cloudy skies and lower temperatures were forecast today for sun-parched middle America, where eight have died from heat since Sunday.

The prediction, welcomed by millions of sufferers, came after the heat wave was broken by damaging storms on the western rim of the affected area.

Temperatures of more than 100 fell to the sixties in western Nebraska after violent rain and hail storms swept a wide area where a tornado wreaked havoc two weeks ago.

Cooling winds blew from the storm area and temperatures moderated. The wheat harvest was speeded up as a result of premature ripening. Thousands of small fish perished in inland lakes.

GIRL'S DEATH IN AUTO FALL HELD ACCIDENT

Returning a verdict of accidental death, a coroner's inquest was held yesterday afternoon for Mary Goubert, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Goubert of Huntington Beach, who was instantly killed Monday night when she fell from a car being driven by her brother on West Seventeenth street about one mile west of Wright road.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning in St. Joseph's church at 9:30 o'clock, with the Harrell and Brown Funeral home in charge. Interment will be made in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery and friends may call tonight at 8 o'clock to recite the Rosary at the funeral parlors.

Reports yesterday that the car had passed over the girl's body after it struck the pavement were denied today by the family. Coroner Earl Abbey said it was difficult to determine what had happened at the time of the accident.

It was brought out at the inquest that the girl was asleep and leaning on the door when it came open. She received a basal skull fracture which caused her death. Gaston Goubert, 22, was the driver of the car. Traffic fatalities in the county this year were increased to 17 by her death.

Three Released From County Jail

Adolph Kneip, 115 West South street, Anaheim, was released from the county jail yesterday after his sentence of six months for reckless driving was suspended by Judge Charles Kuchel of Anaheim.

The Anaheim butcher had his driving license suspended for 90 days. He was arrested on May 22 and had served 15 days of the jail term.

Ray Oliva, serving a 12 1-2-day sentence for drunkenness from Newport Beach, and Earl Wherman of Long Beach, sentenced to five days for speeding, were released yesterday at the expiration of their terms.

RAY RILEY TO BE SPEAKER AT MEET ON TAXES

State Controller Ray L. Riley, "father" of the widely discussed Riley tax plan, will discuss the measure at an open meeting in the Willard junior high school auditorium at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

The public meeting is sponsored by legislators from Orange county and by the Orange County Farm Bureau.

Riley's appearance in Santa Ana is one of a series of similar meetings being conducted in counties throughout the state to discuss the constitutional amendment which will appear on the state ballot at the June 27 election as proposition No. 1, regarding revision of the California tax system, as proposed in the plan.

Riley will be accompanied to Santa Ana by Fred E. Stewart of the state board of equalization and by Drexell Pierce, secretary of the body, and members of the state legislature.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 7. (To the Editor of The Register.) Attorney Pecora is liable to have to do like Roosevelt, go on the radio and tell his troubles. That old radio is the greatest club ever invented for a quick appeal. It's worth fifty vetoes. Pecora can make those Senators say "uncle" for him if he tells it to the people.

This is a great country. You never know where our heroes will come from. This Matern was a trap drummer in a jazz orchestra. That, I think, is the greatest reformation in history.

Politically Speaking

BY THOMAS B. MALARKEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, June 7.—(UP)—Aspirations for Republican and Democratic gubernatorial nominations are scanning the political horizon seeking hopeful signs. Little outward activity is manifest. Underneath the surface, however, there's plenty.

Through ranks of both parties runs the conviction Democrats have an excellent chance to elect a California governor. That belief has inspired Bourbonism with confidence and impelled many Republican leaders to look around for a new and colorful figure capable of striking the "progressive note" without alienating conservatives.

Four Republican old-timers, may line up at the primaries—Governor Rolph, Lieutenant Governor Frank Merriam, ex-Governor C. C. Young and State Treasurer Charles Johnson.

Merriam is campaigning constantly; Johnson needs more encouragement and Young denies he's a candidate, but doesn't miss an opportunity to appear in public. Rolph will run but many Republican leaders believe his chances are nil.

Bert Meek has sent word he won't run. He likes his fat heart job too well. Other Republicans mentioned include former Congressmen Joe Crall and Phil Swing; Burton Pitts, Congressman William Traeger and John R. Quinn, Los Angeles county supervisor.

John B. Elliott, McAdoo's law partner, is the foremost Democratic candidate. Others are Patrick Cooney, Los Angeles attorney; Maurice Harrison, chairman of the state central committee; and Henry E. Monroe, San Francisco attorney. Omnipresent, of course, is "Fighting Bob" Shuler.

The stage is set for a Republican "dark horse." None of the G. O. P. aspirants are as liberal as the times.

Reports of Finance Director Vandegrift's dismissal were renewed when the governor openly criticized him the other day. Apropos of Vandegrift's observations on the governor's impending veto of the employees' salary bill, the governor said: "Vandegrift should attend to his own affairs. If he would mind his own business instead of other people's, there would be more administration harmony."

The governor may convoke a special session after all. He has vetoed a number of bills "without prejudice" with the understanding new bills would be passed at the mid-summer session. Informed legislative rules would preclude consideration of new measures, the governor declared: "But the legislature must consider these matters. If they don't abandon that attitude, I may be forced to call a special session."

Vandegrift's opposition to the Riley-Stewart tax revision plan is feared by proponents of the plan. Politicians know the average voter is prone to listen to opposition arguments to a complicated issue, more closely than favorable. A few timely blasts from Vandegrift might kill the proposal and leave the legislature in a bad hole. They would certainly crystallize opposition in urban areas.

Rolph's expected veto of the oleo-margarine tax bill will hurt him politically in rural districts and gain him no votes in urban sections. . . they're still gunning for the job of George K. Home, state narcotics chief. . . asked if he feud with Senator J. M. Inman was a closed book, the governor replied enthusiastically, "it all depends." James Burke, Visalia, who refused the directorship of the department of natural resources, will be given an opportunity to change his mind. . . the governor will hold open the job for a couple of months.

FIESTA PLANS ARE DISCUSSED BY MERCHANTS

Featured by the presentation of a Spanish program similar to those to be presented during the Fiesta del Oro celebration in Santa Ana on July 27, 28 and 29, an enthusiastic meeting of local merchants, under the auspices of the Santa Ana Merchants association, was held last night in Gonzales hall on East Fourth street.

Progress in plans for the Fiesta which will depict the pioneer and Spanish days of 1849 in California, was reported by John Wilcox of the Fiesta del Oro association, and Joe Stein, chairman of the committee of merchants in charge of the event.

It was announced that practically all the entertainment has been arranged for definitely and the world-famous rodeo stars will be in Santa Ana to participate in the event, besides many other featured entertainers.

Entertainment for the meeting last night was presented by Sol Gonzales, who will have charge of the Spanish events in the Fiesta. A Spanish orchestra played the Fiesta theme song, "Rancho Grande" and Spanish dancers and vocalists entertained.

DISMISS JURY DEADLOCKED IN ZONING TRIAL

Following the deadlock and dismissal of the jury in the zoning ordinance fight being waged by the city of Santa Ana against Mrs. Hazel Hoefs, proprietor of a fruit stand on Santa Ana boulevard, City Attorney Clyde Downing announced this morning that although a date had not been set, a new trial would be held.

The jurors debated nearly seven hours on the case yesterday and were dismissed at 9 p. m. by Judge J. G. Mitchell. The question before the jury was whether Mrs. Hoefs was justified in ignoring the city zoning ordinance prohibiting business along Santa Ana boulevard, which is zoned for residential use only. William J. Tway, secretary of the planning commission, signed the complaint against the manager of the fruit stand.

Evidence was presented by witnesses yesterday that Mrs. Hoefs had been notified that she was violating the ordinance when she built her fruit stand. She contended that she was privileged to earn a living for her family and could not be stopped by a city ordinance.

LIQUOR CASE JURY UNABLE TO AGREE

The jury trying E. T. Lamb, Fullerton dairy driver charged with violation of Fullerton ordinance No. 245, sale of liquor, failed to agree yesterday afternoon and was dismissed by Judge H. I. Spence. The nine women members stood for acquittal while the three men voted to convict Lamb. It is expected that Lamb will be tried again.

Lamb was accused of selling liquor to C. R. Webb, an investigator. He admitted bringing whiskey and alcohol to Webb but claimed he feared he would lose a milk customer if he failed to accede to his request.

Attorney T. L. McPadden for Lamb contended that the Fullerton ordinance was invalid because of repeal of the Wright act and that the Volstead act was the only remaining enforcement measure. He declared that Lamb was led into selling liquor and then trapped.

Albert Launer, city attorney, upheld the legality of the ordinance and defended the methods used by police to catch violators of the liquor ordinance, declaring that it was customary for investigators to make purchases from bootleggers.

DEATH CLAIMS W. A. SHEETS. CRASH VICTIM

W. A. Sheets, 24, of Balboa, who was seriously injured May 27 when the front wheel of his motorcycle blew out and threw him against a parked car in Balboa, died this morning at St. Joseph's hospital.

Coroner Earl Abbey has not set a date for an inquest but is attempting to locate several witnesses. The inquest will be held at Winbiger's Funeral home, where funeral services will be held at a date to be announced later.

Adding to the complications and injuries from the wreck, Sheets had to undergo an operation for acute appendicitis at the hospital. There are only meager reports of the accident, which occurred at midnight, but it has been determined that as Sheets was driving in front of the home of Eugene Elliott at 422 Bay avenue in Balboa, the front tire on his motorcycle blew out and pinned him against a parked automobile. Riding with him was Frankie B. Lindsey, 20, who was slightly injured. The deceased lived at 129 Bay Front avenue.

The death of Sheets brought the list of traffic fatalities in the county to 18 since January.

CYCLE RIDERS ARE INJURED IN FALL

Kenneth Barrow, 18, and Dick Borgen, 17, both of Fullerton, were given first aid treatment at the Orange county hospital last night at 9:30 o'clock after the motorcycle they were riding skidded and threw them to the highway near Fullerton.

Both were removed to their homes after being treated. Barrow received lacerations on his right leg and ankle while Borgen, student, suffered a multiple abrasion on the left leg and lacerations on the right leg. Barrow lives at 426 Malvern avenue while Borgen lives with his parents at 924 East Walnut street.

Board Approves Carpet Request For Jury Room

Superior Judge H. G. Ames' request to the board of supervisors for a carpet for the jury room in department one, superior court, was granted yesterday on motion of Supervisor W. C. Jerome.

Judge Ames appeared before the board and said that a second-hand carpet sufficient for the room is available and will be satisfactory. He said that the carpet is needed to deaden sound in the jury room when court is in session.

In the past Judge Ames said, he has held juvenile court in his chambers as he felt that it was not practical to hold it in open court. Following the earthquake his chambers have been so remodeled as to make it impossible to hold juvenile court there and that work now is handled in the jury room.

CONFERENCE ON CAMPAIGN HELD BY DRY GROUP

A comprehensive educational campaign designed to reach practically every voter in Santa Ana showing why alcoholic liquor and beverages should not be sold in this city, long a dry stronghold, was discussed at a meeting of workers and volunteers held last night in the Spurgeon Memorial church under the auspices of the Santa Ana Dry association.

Final arrangements for the educational campaign were made at the meeting last night, which was presided over by the Rev. C. D. Hicks, president of the organization.

Besides educational literature which will be distributed to all homes in the city, other major projects will be launched by the dry group in the immediate future.

Beginning next Wednesday evening, a wet-dry debate will be presented over radio station KREG as one of the features of the campaign. For 11 consecutive days following the first radio program, similar radio events will be staged. Another major part of the pro-

Fred Bernstein Dies in Fullerton

Fred Bernstein, 88, a resident of Fullerton for the past 25 years, passed away at his home at 237 West Commonwealth avenue yesterday afternoon. Funeral arrangements will be made following opening of a safety deposit by county officials, all of Bernstein's relatives residing in Germany.

Bernstein was well known as a musician, having played frequently at the Fullerton Presbyterian church. The body is at the McAulay and Suters parlors.

Static sparks can ignite dust, and static electricity is a possible cause of many explosions.

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

CONDITIONS IN EARLY DAYS OF CITY RECALLED

FULLERTON, June 7.—Conditions in Orange county in early days were described today by William Starbuck, Fullerton orange grower and former business man, when he was interviewed for The Register. The rapid growth of Fullerton and Santa Ana were due to the civic progress and moral cleanliness of the communities, according to Mr. Starbuck.

In business 21 years, Mr. Starbuck was in business in Fullerton for 21 years and during that time he was very active in the early growth and development of the community. In 1890 he established the first telephone exchange in the city with some 20 phones on the exchange and managed the exchange for 25 years. In 1893 he helped to establish the Fullerton Union High school, which was the sixth union high school to be established in the state. At the time Mr. Starbuck also ran the postoffice in connection with his store.

"My wife and I came to Fullerton the day after the national election in 1888. We are among the oldest settlers and should know something of the history," Mr. Starbuck said.

"At that time there was nothing but wet sentiment. But without hunting up or going into dates it is easy to remember that it was but a very short period after, when dry sentiment began to sprout and grow quite rapidly. Santa Ana and Orange and Fullerton went dry, in near connection.

Girls Need Escorts
"I well remember that conditions in early days before Fullerton went dry were such that I would not allow the girls working in the telephone exchange to go home at night unless they were escorted by a member of their family or by a policeman."

"Anaheim was very wet and did not hesitate to 'rub it into' Fullerton after it went dry. They did not hesitate to let us know that all the trade was coming and would come to Anaheim. In a very short time, they surely realized that they were getting the drunks and the bum and worthless trade, while the other communities were getting the good trade—the people who had funds and cared. Their streets were fairly strewn with drunks, particularly on Saturday nights and Sundays."

Hurry To Go Dry
"They did not hesitate to mention that they had the worst of it. You should have seen their hurry to go dry."

Mr. Starbuck thinks that if Fullerton and Santa Ana stay dry now that history will repeat itself. He says, "I have advised a good many to wait awhile and see if this doesn't happen again. If we find it is true, it is well worth the little wait. In the light of the past, I feel absolutely positive that we will find the very best possible people moving in, rapidly, to get as much protection as possible from the drunk and rowdy and worthless bunch that Anaheim in the old days had to run from. If this is so, it is well worth

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Cowles were Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Charles MacMaster, Mrs. Joe Rodeffer, Mrs. Tom Yate, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Robert Goodwin, Mrs. A. G. Wright, Mrs. Carl Snyder, Mrs. Josephine Rhynalds, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Isbell, Mrs. Staley, Mrs. Carrie Allen, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. William McHenry, Mrs. A. W. Cleave and Mrs. Charles Thamer.

The effort to try to keep Fullerton dry. If we find that it is a dead town and that the people are getting their booze anyway, and our efforts have failed, there will still be plenty of time to vote the change."

STATE WELFARE HEAD SAYS WORK PROBLEM MUST BE MET; 'PRIVILEGED' GROUP IS HIT

FULLERTON, June 7.—Declaring that the people of California must solve the unemployment situation if they want the present system of government continued, and defending the work of the state welfare department, of which she is head, Rhea Crawford Spilvalo spoke before the Charlie Ruby open forum class at the Fullerton Union High school last night.

"I am no politician; my one interest is the oppressed; they have no highly paid lobbies, and if the utilities and the big corporations will keep their feet and hands off my people, I will keep off of them; unless they do, I am not afraid to go to any street corner and declare for my people," Mrs. Spilvalo declared.

Defends Program

She was speaking in defense of the state welfare program, which she said is in jeopardy of the intense dislike of the political powers and especially the "privileged" class of her, and declared that if her stepping from office will be a means of providing adequate funds for carrying on her department, she will gladly step aside, for, she said, "no human matter so long as the program for the distressed is carried on; I do not believe in human beings who block programs for the good of the many."

Mrs. Spilvalo took as her topic, "Problems of Modern Youth," and said the facing of unsettled and disorganized society is the greatest problem the young man and woman has to face today.

Tells of Problems

Her defense of her department, the overhead of which has been cut 65 per cent, came about as a part of the talk, and she said the real fight is on her, and her determination to keep the relief money for the aged, the blind and the children continuing as a state allowance, and as a means of relieving the present serious economic problem.

The relief to aged is being demanded more and more with continued unemployment, she said, while other phases of the work she heads are demanding more attention, also.

Mrs. Spilvalo won her fight to keep $10,000,000 allowance for the destitute, and in retaliation, the overhead was cut until the department is handicapped, with the prospect in view of having a most difficult time with investigations, she said.

Sees Rebellion

"If you are wise, if you want your present system of government continued, if you want to continue your present economic system, you must recognize that this you are calling charity is not charity, it is self preservation," she declared. "I see among my people signs of rebellion; I see on every side signs of rebellion and dark forebodings for America unless you recognize the problem as one of necessity, this problem of solving the unemployment situation."

"The one task is to put our shoulders to the wheel, the classes and the masses, and find a common meeting ground. If they, those who are underfed and underhoused, under privileged in the necessities of life, do not have their needs met, they will be obliged to meet those needs themselves, and in a different way. They do not want charity; you are not administering charity; you are administering self preservation for all classes when you care for them."

Needs of Youth
The speaker, clad in a simple black suit, with a white blouse, opened her remarks with the need of youth finding a purpose in life, learning the royalties of life, learning tolerance, and selecting best values, and then putting first things first, as a solution of his problem.

As a final warning, the speaker asked that the people watch politics, and use the ballot to better conditions, and to vote for conditions of permanency.

Questioned on the effect of beer sales in helping the present economic situation, she said, "I do not think it will help, do you?"

Charles Ruby, teacher of law in Fullerton Union High school, introduced the speaker and announced that Ted Craig, assemblyman, will talk at the last open forum, Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Graduates From San Diego School

FULLERTON, June 7.—Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Cowles of North Spadra road went to San Diego today to the San Diego Army and Navy academy to see their son, Capt. Danforth Cowles, graduate from the junior college of the school. He was one of five students of the school on the honor roll this year.

After returning to the home of his parents for a time, he plans to enter R. O. T. C. camp in July.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTES TO KEEP AIRCRAFT CLASS

FULLERTON, June 7.—In consideration of the fact that the government has provided the tools and equipment for the courses, valued at $60,000, the board of the Fullerton Union High school and District Junior college yesterday afternoon voted to return the course in aeronautics to the curriculum, and to employ the instructor of last year, J. Peterson, for another year at three-fifths time.

Petition Presented

Reconsideration followed reading a petition of students for the course, and the trustees, after discussion, and on motion of Albert Launer, reconsidered the former action to drop the department.

Another point on which understanding was gained was in registration of students at junior college. On request of Dean W. T. Boyce that he be not asked to differentiate between students of outside districts, but that he urge early registration for local students, to avoid any appearance of being undemocratic, of incorporating sectional politics, the board agreed to that form of action. It was formerly understood that students of the district were to have first choice of registration.

Close Season Nov. 30

The members of the board agreed with Louis Plummer, principal, that the football season should not continue longer than November 30 as a protection to the athletes.

Class day problems came in for discussion, with announcement that some students had taken a second ditch day for half of class day.

The recommendation that students return to their old form of celebration and remain on the campus, made by Mr. Plummer, did not pass.

Letters will be sent to parents of students advising them of the need of students taking certain prescribed courses if those students are to be graduated with college credentials.

The board voted to accept the graduating class list, as presented by the administration. The auditor's report and recommendations for construction work are to be considered after the members of the board have had more time for consideration, as is the administration budget report.

Order 75 Machines

The cost of replacement of typing machines being slightly more than repair costs, an order is to be placed for 75 machines. A new gelatin machine for printing also is to be purchased.

The student body will be reimbursed, in part this year, by the board for their purchase of a printing machine which is out of use now, because of discontinuance of the department. The board refused two offers to purchase the printing equipment that is valued conservatively at more than $10,000, offers that were $125 and $1175, made by printers. The members agreed that the machines might again be used by students, when full departments were opened again.

The board adjourned to meet next Tuesday at 1:30 p. m.

DR. STOKDYK COMMENTS ON PRORATE ACT

"The philosophy of proration" according to Dr. E. A. Stokdyk, associate professor of agriculture at the University of California, "is not new. It was manifested in the practices of the early English merchant and craft guilds. Each member was held to a 'stint' or allotment to protect the limited opportunity for all. It is now believed by many that the new condition call for control of competition with administration by groups as in the period of the guilds in England."

The philosophy underlying economic and legal aspects of compulsory proration of agricultural shipments, as contemplated particularly for California in the Agricultural Prorate Act now before the state legislature, has been analyzed by Dr. Stokdyk in a report to the office of Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

Increase Prices
Describing the experiences of California commodity groups, including lemons, valencia oranges, tokay grapes, lettuce, cantaloupes, apples, canning peaches, in attempting voluntary prorate programs, Dr. Stokdyk says results have demonstrated that with some commodities returns to producers can be increased by restricting quantities marketed in the primary channels of trade.

At the same time, he points out, none of these restrictions has been attacked as being contrary to public policy on the grounds that prices have been unduly enhanced to consumers. The programs were undertaken, he explains, only when it was obvious that returns to growers would be extremely low or severe losses would be incurred in harvesting and distributing if all of the crops were marketed.

"Each of the programs undertaken," says Professor Stokdyk, "encountered the difficulty of obtaining and maintaining participation by a large proportion of growers. Many growers who have participated in such prorate programs recognize the economic gains to the industry yet refuse to take part again unless all growers join. This situation has led many to believe that it is desirable to make participation compulsory for all growers if two-thirds or more of the producers are willing to conduct restriction programs."

Administration
To make compulsory restriction of shipments effective, Dr. Stokdyk points out, three distinct administrative set-ups have been proposed. One would place the production and marketing of certain agricultural crops under public utility regulation. A second would make marketing through one agency mandatory. The third would give governmental agency the power to administer proration programs.

"At the present time," Professor Stokdyk concludes, "it is probable that the courts would consider the third proposal more favorable than the other two. We may infer from previous decisions that, if such procedures do not enhance prices beyond reasonable returns to producers, and if weighed as temporary measures in the face of economic necessity, they will be considered within the rule of reason by the courts."

Carlyle Thorpe, general manager, California Walnut Growers' association, recently told the committee on agriculture of the state legislature, that in his opinion, the Agricultural Prorate act represented the more important and far-reaching type of agricultural legislation now pending, and vigorously urged its enactment. Wahlberg reports.

THREE JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Three men were taken to the county jail yesterday on liquor charges, two sentenced for 12½ day terms and the third arrested for drunkenness.

Clarence Pumphrey, 36, oilworker living at 130 South Highland street, Fullerton, and Jose Gomez, 19, laborer of La Habra, were brought to the jail by Officer George M. Crilley of Fullerton, to start serving their terms. Pumphrey was charged with being intoxicated while Gomez was sentenced for possession of liquor. They were sentenced to pay a $25 fine or go to jail.

S. Perez, Placentia Mexican, was lodged in jail last night by Gus Barnee, Placentia police chief, and Horace Lucy, on a drunk charge.

CHILDREN REDUCE RISK OF DIVORCE

PASADENA, Calif., June 7.—A childless marriage is nine times as likely to end in divorce as is a marriage with even one child, according to researches of the Human Betterment Foundation.

Every additional child cuts the chance of divorce in half.

Five-sixths of all the divorces granted in the United States are found to be in the small minority of married couples composed of those who are childless or have no more than one child.

Abandonment Is Authorized by R. R. Commission

Permission to officially abandon use of the Southern Pacific tracks between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach has been granted by the railroad commission, according to local railway company officials.

Application for the abandonment was made late in 1932 when the Southern Pacific company stopped using the tracks.

The Southern Pacific runs no trains between the beach cities, but all company traffic is handled by the Pacific Electric company which still operates between the towns.

Police News

H. Yamashita, 33, Japanese laborer from Los Angeles, has been lodged in the Orange county jail for violating the immigration laws by J. P. Hayseldon, deputy United States marshal from Los Angeles.

Wrenches and tools were stolen from his car where it was parked at 928 East Chestnut street last night, it was reported to police by Erick Heidecke, R. D. 2, Box 258, Orange. The value of the tools was set at $12.

Children or a crank were blamed by police yesterday following an investigation of broken windows in the office of a golf driving range on South Main street operated by Dan Johnson. Glass had been broken from two windows for the second time in a month and chalk inscriptions had been written on the walls. Nothing was reported stolen.

Frank Skinner, living on the Huntington Beach road near Midway City reported to the sheriff's office that thieves had stolen a trailer, jack, pump and small motor, which had been used to water a berry patch.

Court Notes

Secondino Dias, Mexican living at 914 Logan street, who was arrested and put in jail Sunday by city police officers after he assertedly became drunk, threatened to kill his wife, and ran her out of the house, was fined $15 on the drunk charge and released yesterday by Police Judge J. G. Mitchell.

Voters and Investors In Santa Ana, Attention:

Do you want to bring back the value of real property in Santa Ana?

Do you want to insure its steady increase in population?

Do you want to maintain the high standard of its citizenry?

Do you want to enlarge its reputation as being an outstanding, dependable community, attractive to the finest people in the world?

You will have the opportunity to do your part toward it on the 27th of June.

30,000 people live in Santa Ana. Probably three-fourths of them have come here because of the standards in morals, in education, in religion.

Those interested in values are anxious to herald the advantages of Santa Ana to the world. On the morning of the 28th of this month either of two news items will go forth to the world.

It may read like this:

"Santa Ana, a city of 30,000, with 35 churches, standing for nearly 30 years for prohibition, has joined with the other 'wet' cities of the country, turning its back upon its former ideals, has let down the bars, and invited in the beer sellers by proposing to license alcoholic beer." If this be the item that is sent out, it will not be noted particularly. All there will be to it is that another city has joined the booze parade.

But it may read like this:

"Santa Ana, which has been 'dry' for the last 30 years, registered the same positive determination to continue its high ideals and prevent the sale of alcoholic liquor, by voting against the proposed sale by a substantial majority. The voters of the city sustained the religious and educational leaders in their fight to uphold the ideals of the city."

When this news is flashed over the wires, it will be REAL news. It will be news because it will prove there is at least one community that has not lost its head, and is dependable to maintain its ideals for home, church and school.

This news would be read by literally millions of fathers and mothers in the United States, who will be glad to know of one community to which they can come, in which they can live and rear and educate their children, where they can be assured that the city will remain steadfast, affording the highest elements of protection to themselves and their children.

IT NOT ONLY WOULD INVITE, BUT WOULD INSURE HUNDREDS AND THOUSANDS OF OTHER FAMILIES, WHO ARE LOOKING FOR THE FINEST AND BEST, SELECTING SANTA ANA, ABOVE ALL OTHER COMMUNITIES, TO DO THIS THING. IF THERE IS ONLY ONE CITY IN THE UNITED STATES THAT STANDS FOUR-SQUARE, LET SANTA ANA BE THAT CITY.

It will mean the enhancing of property values, the building up of the city, the assurance that our religious and educational institutions are still permitted to accomplish their full purpose with our youth and our adults.

It will help property values in Santa Ana instantly and permanently to remain "dry." It will decrease them by voting "wet," for not only will it not bring anybody here for a home, but some who are here will try to find some place where the people are not willing to sell out their principles and their standard of the city for a mug of beer.

MORTGAGE HOLDERS, REALTODS, FINANCIERS, if you want to do the best for money and business and homes and real property, give Santa Ana a nation-wide reputation for the kind of a city that we really believe her to be.

SANTA ANA DRY ASSOCIATION,
C. D. HICKS, Chairman.

What! Me pay more money for other tires?

Don't make me laugh!

I USED to judge a tire by what it cost. What a mistake that was. Last year I discovered that Riverside tires are made of the finest materials by skilled workmen—in one of America's largest tire factories. THE factory that makes millions of tires for America's leading cars. The only important difference between Riverside and other famous tires is price. Ward's prices are 10% lower. What's more, Riversides are guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction. When I heard that, I put them on my Lincoln and I've been using them ever since. That saving of 10% will buy a lot of things I need. No tire salesman will ever get me to pay extra for other tires again. I'm married to Riversides.

WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT
They asked Mrs. Seaman Tom Watson, wife of the featherweight champion, if she knew George Bernard Shaw. "What weight does he fight in?" she innocently asked. "He's right from the old England, too. . . . Those hot stove league trades last winter, with their resulting change of scenery for the players, certainly helped the boys. . . . Speaking of Lindstrom—he's made the best to come along since the days of Lewis, Speaker and Hooper. . . . Bar may go into that brawl. . . . Schmeling 20 rounds heavier than the Dutchman. . . . and those pounds are going to count a lot. . . . they're plenty fast units of avoidpols."

OATS ALL GONE

The oats bin was bare. The last wisp of hay had been carefully picked up and given to the horse. Here it was the day of the great race and old Jim Cushing's pockets were just as clean as the empty flour barrel at the stables.
Jim Cushing owned Boundless, though, and that was something. That afternoon Boundless, at 15 to 1, was to strive for a prize of $50,000 put up for the American Derby. That was 40 years ago, and like the American Derby run the other day, it was the high spot of a Chicago World's Fair.
Jim Cushing had a shamefully shabby suit, but he had Boundless, and something else besides—he had Ed Garrison to ride. "The Snapper" wanted to win this race more than any other he ever rode, not only because they were saying that Garrison was getting a bit too old to ride, but because he, like everyone else, loved old Jim Cushing.

AT THE POST

So the Snapper thought up a quick one. As the horses reached the post, Boundless' saddle girth came loose. Starter Pettinelli swore, but gave Garrison permission to dismount and fix it. The Snapper fumbled with the strap. It broke. That made it necessary to send to the stable for another.
The field was at the barrier more than an hour, Garrison on the ground, the other jockeys sawing at their eager, nervous mounts.
Finally they were off, Garrison breaking in his usual leisurely fashion. At the far turn he gave the word, and when Garrison gave the word he emphasized it cruelly with hands, spur and whip.

LOTS OF FLOUR

Boundless moved up past the tiring Aldebaran. Then head to head with Clifford, and right on past. One more now—St. Leonards. Boundless crept up on Taral's mount, fought him nose to nose for a fleeting instant, and pounded past.
Jim Cushing with his threadbare suit and empty pockets, stood proudly with the judges, looking at his check for $50,000. It would buy oats for Boundless, pay the $1000 fine plastered on Garrison for the post delay, and it would fill the flour barrel. Besides old Jim could buy a new suit now, and look prosperous like the other owners.
And Boundless would have a new blanket. After this Boundless could hold up his head proudly in the nicest equine society.

Jimmy McLarnin, the new welterweight champion of the world, won his first fight on a kayo. . . . and it was strictly amateur. Jimmy is one of a family of 13 children. . . . one day his father brought home a set of boxing gloves. . . . Jimmy took them down to the corner, met a friend and invited him to put them on. . . .

McLarnin was that one with a punch. . . . as he went over to the next corner and met another pal. . . . this time he got his ears punched off. . . . "Pop" Foster, McLarnin's manager, persuaded him to try it professionally. . . . in the early days of the partnership, "Pop" used to fish for their meals in the bay off San Francisco. . . . with McLarnin rowing a battered boat. . . . "Pop" was the cook, too. . . . now Jimmy's bank roll is figured around the half-million mark.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

A tragedy in a way. . . . the fact that Slambo Leslie of the Giants is such a good ball player. . . . for he is a first baseman, and that is Manager Bill Terry's favorite spot. . . . Where do you suppose Avon Artz, Michigan's baseball captain, got that moniker? . . . Sarazen's prediction that one stroke would win the National Open is not so startling after you think it over, and look over the records of major golf tournaments. . . . and he adds that North Shore is so treacherous that any man's golfer can come along and win. . . . which has been more than common since Mister Jones bled to Hollywood.

NEVA CONQUERS SABELLA, 4 TO 2: AVIATORS WIN

Although the "first half" was only half completed, Torrance today looked like the new champion of the National Night Ball league.
"Spud" Murphy's Blueboys strengthened their position as pretender to the throne last night by defeating the strong Huntington Beach Oilers, 4 to 2, on Huntington Beach's own grounds. A capacity crowd watched Torrance move into a two-game lead by getting the better of a fine mound duel between young Louie Neva and the veteran "Chico" Sabella.

Torrance now has won ten out of its eleven starts, and has a run of nine straight victories. A 2-1 defeat by Anaheim in 11 innings has been the Blueboys' only setback this season.

As usual, Torrance's long distance machinery helped. Dan Leonard hit a home run in the second inning and Louie Neva tripled in the third, scoring on brother Paul's long fly to right. Leonard's blow tied the score at 1-1 after Huntington Beach tallied in the first when Schuchardt was safe on Watson's error, stole second and third and rang the bell on Maness' single.

Torrance practically won the ball game in the sixth. Fabrigat opened with a double and stole third while Wolfe was walking. Fabrigat scored on L. Neva's fly to Schuchardt, Wolfe taking second on the throw-in, stealing third and scoring on a passed ball.

Huntington Beach coaxed another run out of Neva, in the eighth on Lower's triple and Rodgers' fielder's choice.
Neva was in top form, although inclined to be wild. He passed 6, but fanned 12. Sabella struck out 9. Both gave up four hits.

Westminster virtually eliminated Olive from "first half" contention by outslugging the Packers, 11-9, in a free-hitting affair at Westminster. Neither starting pitcher, Morrill or Heman, lasted. Morrill was knocked out of the box in the third when Olive ran into a 7-2 lead.

Clarence Hapes and "Red" Kidder paced Westminster's vigorous attack on Heman, Hapes drawing five hits and Kidder four. Between them they drove in or personally scored ten Aviator runs. Heman did most of Olive's damaging hitting.

After Olive tied the score at 9-9 in the eighth, Westminster came back in the last half to make its two winning runs on Smith's single, Daley's double and Hapes' single.

Anaheim snapped out of its slump with a vengeance at home last night, burying Jib Sultenfuss and Russ Cogan, Fullerton's pitchers, under a 15-1 score.

LOW STINER GIVEN OREGON STATE POST

CORVALLIS, Ore., June 7.—Alonso (Lon) Stiner, ex-University of Nebraska star, is the new football coach of Oregon State college. He was given a contract at a meeting of the state board of higher education.

Stiner succeeds Paul Schisler, who coached at Oregon State for eight years. He was backfield mentor here last season. George Scott, who also played for Oregon State, will be Stiner's assistant.

Five years after his retirement as heavyweight champion, Gene Tunney and his wife, the former Polly Lauder, turned up at a Devon, Pa., horse show and had their pictures taken. The photo of Mrs. Tunney is one of few taken since her marriage to the former fighter.

Board Takes No Action On Saint Coach

Although "Tex" Oliver's resignation was formally accepted, the Santa Ana board of education took no action last night leading to the appointment of Oliver's successor as high school football coach for 1933-34.

Dr. W. M. Burke, one of the members, laid the way for the election to the post of W. W. (Bill) Foote, Oliver's assistant for the past six years, but his suggestion was not made in the form of a motion and nothing came of it.

Burke said he thought it would be possible for the school to get along next year without adding anyone to the physical education staff by promoting Foote and employing an inexpensive assistant during the football and track seasons. He said he thought this economic gesture would be approved by the taxpayers.

M. B. Youel and Rolla Hays, two other members, said they were not prepared to take action yet, so the matter was indefinitely postponed. The board meets again next Tuesday night.

Oliver appeared before the board personally, stating his appreciation to the members for their co-operation and support in the past seven years. The board extended Oliver best wishes at his new post, the University of Arizona. His resignation was accepted on motion of Youel, who praised Oliver from personal knowledge because he said he had two boys who had played under Oliver.

DODGERS SEEK HELP AS TWO STARS FLOP

NEW YORK, June 7.—(UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, picked by some of the experts to win the National league pennant, now face the possibility of winding up in the cellar unless Manager Max Carey can strengthen the club's batting punch by acquiring new players before June 15.

Carey needs new outfielders, particularly before the mid-June deadline for trading. His fly-chasers have virtually collapsed. Johnny Frederick is doing well in right field, hitting about .333, but "Lefty" O'Doul and "Hack" Wilson are not clicking.

Carey is offering some of his prominent players for lesser lights with other clubs, such as Adam Comorosky of the Pirates and Ernie Ottavio of the Cardinals. In addition, he is trying to obtain talent from the minors. He is angling for Myril Hoag, a Yankee under option to Newark, and George Washington with the Fort Worth club.

Continuing their slump, the Dodgers dropped to seventh place in the standing yesterday when beaten, 7 to 2, by the New York Giants.

SIGN MILES TO BOX MAHAN IN TITULAR BOUT

Advised that Neal Foster was ill and would be unable to box here tomorrow night, Matchmaker Kid Mexico late today signed Nat Mills, Irvine lightweight, for the Orange County Athletic club's main event with "Dummy" Mahan, state amateur champion.

Another championship boxing match tops off Thursday's boxing show at the Orange County Athletic club.

The Delhi organization has rematched "Dummy" Mahan and Neal Foster, with Mahan's title as state lightweight king the stake involved. They'll come in at 135 pounds.

Mahan and Foster are going back into the Delhi firing pit before their sensational main event of last week gets "cold". When Mahan shaded the aggressive Long Beach fighter the other time he came within an ace of having his crown lifted from him, Foster putting on a strenuous finish that almost caught the eyes of the judges. It was a terrific contest, perhaps the most exciting of the year, and Matchmaker Kid Mexico wisely rematched the principals immediately. He figures the bout will do the best business of 1933.

Mahan appeared to be the best lightweight ever to box here through the first two rounds. He punched beautifully and his footwork was faultless. But Foster caught him in the last round and Mahan finished a very tired champion. Mahan will be a favorite tomorrow, but Foster's chance is considered very good.

Ira ("Bud") McCarter and Jim Corbin, 170-pounders, meet in the semi-final. McCarter seems a much improved fighter in his recent starts but will have to be at "tops" to win from the black Corbin, best of Los Angeles' amateur middleweights.

Heavyweights Harold Sweet and "Buck" Steel provide the special event at 195 pounds. Steele is a big colored fellow, better known locally as "Smoker" Banks. Matchmaker Mexico promises seven other bouts.

State Will Have Pheasant Season Starting Nov. 15

SACRAMENTO, June 7.—(UP)—California sportsmen will reap the advantages of years of protection of Chinese pheasants next fall when the season will be opened for six days.

Governor Ralph last night signed a bill opening the season on the birds for Nov. 15 to Nov. 20, inclusive. The bag limit is two birds per day.

Two other important fish and game bills were also signed. One reduces the state bag limit on ducks and geese to conform with the federal limit. The other authorizes the fish and game commission to grant permits to kill deer, when it can be demonstrated the animals are destroying farm crops.

STARS 'DIE' AS WHITTIER BAGS EASY GAME, 5-1

Specialists from far and wide gathered 'round the bedside of Santa Ana's Stars today to see if a miracle could be wrought; to determine whether the dead could be brought back to life.

The patient passed away at Whittier last night.

Defeated by the Poets, 5-1, the Stars sank into seventh place, the lowest position they've ever held in eight years of National Night league campaigning.

The bitter end came painlessly, and under conditions strangely familiar to the world of sport. Once surrounded by hundreds of whooping fair-weather friends, the Stars' collapse was completed with just a few of the old faithful to mourn the finish.

Stars Score in First

Santa Ana remonstrated mildly with Whittier's gaunt "String" McDonnell before succumbing. A two-base error by Outfielder Porter on Tom Denney's fly in the first inning was converted into a run when "Rosie" Merrill followed with a double over third. But that was all. It was just a dying effort which Whittier more than matched in its half.

After scoring Denney with his double, Merrill was thrown out trying for three bases so Ed Daley's subsequent single was wasted.

Joe Cornelius worked for Santa Ana. He was wild and ineffective at first, then settled down and gave a creditable performance, but he was outpitched by McDonnell who was virtually invincible after the first frame, only one Santa Ana passing first base.

Cornelius walked Coots, fanned Nolan and walked Davis for a starter. Norton lined out to Sears but Porter doubled to left, scoring Coots, and McKinney dumped a Texas leaguer into right field, just out of George Preble's reach, that tallied both Davis and Porter.

Whittier Increases Lead
A pass to McDonnell, Coots' infield hit, Davis' infield out and Preble's error on Norton's easy grounder gave Whittier a 4-1 lead in the third.

Coots' single, Nolan's sacrifice, a passed ball and Davis' out, Hill to Daley, completed the scoring in the fourth. Thereafter Cornelius hurled fine ball, Coots' single in the sixth being the only blow off him.

Santa Ana's defeat at Whittier was the Stars' fifth in succession. They play Olive here Friday night.

FAVOR ARMOUR IN U. S. OPEN: SARAZEN SICK

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, June 7.—(UP)—The eve of the National Open golf championship today found Gene Sarazen, defending champion; Tommy Armour, MacDonald Smith, George Von Elm, Billy Burke and Walter Hagen, the leading favorites in the 72-hole, three-day test over the North Shore Gold club course.

Sarazen has been sick, off his game and playing infrequently, but he's still the champion and a money player and he must be reckoned with. Sarazen played only nine holes yesterday, and he hasn't been bearing down in the terrific heat which has gripped Chicago the past few days.

Off his practice form, Armour must be rated the tournament favorite. In his last four practice rounds he has hung up 60-72-73-70 for a total of 284, four strokes under par. Conservative predictions figure any score under 290 will win.

MacDonald Smith, the veteran who probably has won runner-up honors in the big tournaments more than any other player, has been playing exceptionally well, and the old-timers believe he will play a prominent role in deciding the 37th National Open.

Hagen, Burke and Von Elm are all on their game and are calculated to finish high in the money, with any one of them a possible winner.

Bobby Jones still is the greatest drawing card in golf and perhaps still the world's greatest player, as proved yesterday when he toured the North Shore course for the first time and shot a 71, one under par. The day's highest gallery followed him. Bobby, who is hurt in the role of reporter, said the course was a severe test, demanding long drives and accurately placed second shots.

Although Jones is out of the tournament, Johnny Goodman, the Omaha, Neb., boy who conquered him in the first round of the Pebble Beach, Cal., tournament in 1929, is here and playing the greatest golf of his career. Goodman should have won the amateur title last year but pressed too hard in the final and lost to Ross Somerville, the Canadian. In two practice rounds at North Shore, Goodman shot a 73 and a 71. He is the leading amateur threat in the Open since Jones retired.

JACK DOYLE OUT AS L.A. BOUT PROMOTER

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—(UP)—Retirement of Jack Doyle as a fight promoter, and the addition of Lou Daro, wrestling promoter, to the staff of Olympic auditorium, was learned today.

Doyle, long a figure in the prize fight game, was reported to have lost $20,000 in the recent McLarnin-Corbett fight.

Tom Gallary, formerly matchmaker at Hollywood, who recently was given the same spot at Olympic, has a contract to "super-vice, manage and direct" all boxing shows at the huge auditorium.

Daro, co-holder with Doyle of the lease on the house, will team up with Gallary in promoting fights as well as mat shows, it was understood.

Doyle will continue to have a financial interest in the auditorium.

Berlin Gets Games; Jews To Compete

VIENNA, June 7.—(UP)—The International Olympic Committee voted today to hold the 1936 games in Berlin, as planned, on the understanding there would be no discrimination against Jews.

The recent discriminations against German Jewish athletes caused widespread reports that the 1936 Games would be transferred to some other country.

DEAN, DERRINGER IN ROW ON BALL FIELD

NEW YORK, June 7.—(INS)—Just before the season started, the two major league presidents made a stirring plea for more aggressiveness on the ball field, and they have received an enthusiastic response from the hired men and customers alike. Fans in Washington and Cincinnati are saying it with pop bottles, one first-class riot was staged at the capital and numerous feuds are raging.

The latest vendetta came to a head in Cincinnati yesterday when "Dizzy" Dean, megaphone man of the St. Louis Cardinals and leading exponent of the perpendicular pronoun, talked himself into a punch on the nose. It was delivered by Paul Derringer, Dean's former teammate, but the fight was won by "King Kong" Vance, of the Cards. Vance squelched both belligerents by the simple method of sitting on them until they cooled off.

Derringer was sore at the Cards anyway for trading him to Cincinnati and his ire was aroused further when Dean declined to smile when calling him certain names. A shower of pop bottles, one of which struck a player, and the election of two hired men from the premises, provided additional excitement.

REAL

STATE OFFICER IS OPPOSED TO RILEY TAX PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 7. (UP)—Rolland Vandegrift, director of finance, strangely repudiated a form letter issued on state tax research bureau stationery seeking support for the Riley-Stewart tax revision plan.

This tax revision proposal will be submitted to the people at the June 27 special election.

Fred Stewart, vice chairman and director of the bureau, addressed a letter to approximately 350 members of the bureau's advisory council.

Vandegrift and Governor Rolph are members of the bureau directorate. Neither one, the director said, had any knowledge of the statement.

"This letter urging support of this plan, was sent out without my knowledge or consent," Vandegrift said. "It was never brought up by the tax research bureau for consideration. I want it distinctly understood that the letter's content has not my approval."

Vandegrift's outburst crystallized his apparent growing opposition to the Riley-Stewart tax revision plan. So far, he has been reluctant to commit himself publicly.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

DEBTS

The President is having plenty of trouble inside on this war debt business. Leaks and hidden opposition are thwarting his best laid plans. He feels somewhat miffed about it.

The thing started when a certain European debtor sounded us out not so long ago on a new idea. It called for partial payment of the June 15 debt installment. Each debtor would pay what he could without taxing the Treasury and we would not call it default.

It was a very ticklish business. The utmost secrecy was preserved. That is, it was until Mr. Roosevelt called in his advisers and asked what they thought.

Next day two New York newspapers published a version of it all over Page One.

The cat could not have been let out of the bag at a worse time. The radio sputtered fast, taking the news to Paris. There the French government was trying to cajole the Chamber of Deputies into paying us the installment due last December 15. Deputies were on the verge of making the appropriation when the news from New York upset the appellate.

The White House here issued a prompt denial but a denial never catches up with a fact. It was too late. The deed was done.

Some abuse has been heaped on the press by the administration for the way this thing turned out. As usual the real root of the difficulty was overlooked.

Somebody told. Obviously it was one of Mr. Roosevelt's friends who did not want the scheme to succeed. In telling it, as usual, the sponsor made it bigger than it was. What actually was a vague sounding out of opinion became a concluded deal. "Arrangements have been made; the President is willing"—and all that sort of thing.

It would be unfair to point a finger of suspicion at anyone without being able to prove it. Mr. Roosevelt could probably figure out who it was without half trying.

No one will tell you the truth about anything involved in the debt question, but it appears the original proposition came either from Great Britain or Italy.

The best guess would be that the British ambassador mentioned it informally one day when he strolled into the White House. However, the Italians knew all about it and may ultimately come forward with that or a similar proposition.

At any rate France was not in on the play and felt hurt.

If the administration can get Congress out of town before June 15 this debt business may be settled yet.

You may see Italy come forward with what they call a modus vivendi. That means a way of making the payment without making it. It would be some variation of the partial payment plan.

Arrangements for something like that have been going on some time, but they will not be sprung unless Congress quits. The wolves on the hill would howl too much. Already they have an inkling of what is going on and are determined to break it up.

That factor will probably keep things up in the air until the last minute.

NEWS

No effort has ever been made in peace times here to gag the press on international negotiations. The rule of decency prevails. No one would publish anything he knew was against the interests of his country. No one has lately.

The whole situation resolves itself down to a game. The administration tries to keep delicate negotiations secret. It has every right to do so. Despite what the theorists say you just cannot conduct the affairs of nations in the open. Too many varied interests are involved. Too many people are waiting to take advantage of you.

The press always is trying to find out what is going on. In its eagerness sometimes it is misled.

As a rule you will find the press wrong less often than the statesmen.

LEAGUE

Nobody lifted an eyebrow when we sent delegates last week to the International Labor Council of the League of Nations.

The reason was that the news was broken so gently. A newspaperman heard about it 24 hours before the delegates were to sail. He was told by an official source that the information must not be released until 11 a. m. the following day. The delegates sailed an hour before that time. Obviously some administration sources thought an effort might be made to stop the delegation. They knew opposition protests would be useless after the delegates had gone.

This incident adds another important link in the chain of evidence that we are working closer and closer with the League every day.

BREAKS

Probably the worst break of the administration so far was Lady Perkins's statement. "The South is an untapped market for shoes. . . . When we have put shoes on the South, the social revolution will have begun."

The second worst was the Labor Department intimation that a forestry camp would be started for girls.

Both ideas have been modified considerably. Miss Perkins is fully informed now that southerners wear shoes, also clothes when they have the money. Thousands of letters have poured in from the Southland carrying the news.

Also it has lately been discovered that tree planting is probably a man's job.

However women will continue to do plenty of talking, as usual.

NOTES

A railroad cannot demote an engineer to fireman for economy's sake under the Railroad Bill unless it continues to pay an engineer's salary. . . . Just as a matter of history Senator Glass never carried out that threat against Huey Long to name the state in which he thought banking was rotten. . . . Senator Connolly of Texas has inherited the Long-Overton investigation since Senator Bratton has retired. . . . If Connolly is permitted to follow his personal inclinations something may be done. . . . Some officials here are beginning to worry about British hospitality and its effect on our delegates at London. . . . The British have a habit of killing their opponents with kindness and winning conferences at the tea table. . . . Congressmen have received more mail opposing the new income tax proposals than on any subject this session except Veterans reductions.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

TAXES

Don't be surprised if you wake up some day and find that tax-exempt securities have been abolished.

It's in the wind. Some of the administration's advisors figure it as the only answer to the tax-evasion problem. The first plan was to try it out on the new government issue of June 15th. But if it were applied only to new government securities it would handicap them as against the older issues.

Political pressure against the step is very strong and there is a big question whether it can be swung against that opposition. Secret trial balloons will be sent up in important political and financial quarters in the next few weeks. If the odds against it are too heavy it will never be brought to light. But if success is indicated it is likely to be jammed through in a hurry.

The New York banks are all upset at the prospect but there doesn't seem to be anything they can do about it.

It wouldn't really hurt the market for governments if tax exemption were cut out on all issues equally. There would be some transfers of funds of governments into high-grade industrial but this would help industry without hurting federal finances. The Federal Reserve Banks can act as an enormous sponge for the Treasury if needed.

DEVALUATION

The British have thought up a nifty on devaluation. The idea would be to cut the gold content of the dollar by 20 per cent and that of the pound by about 40 per cent. That would assure the pound a permanent trade advantage. They have tried to enlist support for the plan in local financial circles but are not getting anywhere.

Our London delegation is not likely to have any green in its eye either.

New York authorities are becoming more and more convinced that some form of dollar devaluation will be necessary to offset rising domestic prices and head off a flood of cheap foreign imports.

DEBTS

The British government and administration friends here rate the war debt question privately above all others. It must be settled behind the scenes if at all. Government circles abroad are unanimous in feeling that the success or failure of the Conference hinges on this.

British financiers have pointed out to New York associates that the entire saving on conversion went to pay the December installment of the American debt. They sadly add that even cancellation would not reduce their tax burden. Only trade revival can do that. That is why Britain, though she wants to lessen her financial obligations to us, is even more anxious to make trade deals that will bolster her foreign revenue.

Friends of the President say that the need for a debt moratorium has been recognized all along in administration circles and quiet efforts have been going on behind the scenes to convert hostilities to this viewpoint. The moratorium which will probably be announced for the duration of the Conference may extend considerably beyond that time out of sheer economic need.

GOLD

All of the gold that has come into London from South Africa in the past few weeks has found its way into the hands of private buyers. Neither the Bank of England nor the Bank of France has bought any. The British still maintain a free gold market for all comers.

SPECULATORS

Mr. Roosevelt is expected shortly to issue a warning against speculation. But word has been quietly passed to insiders that they can go ahead without interference so long as they stay on the right side of the fence and don't overdo it. The bull market has been a big help to commodity buying and to banks and no one wants seriously to discourage it.

SIDELIGHTS

Brokers are no longer broke. They made enough in the last two months to carry them the rest of the year. . . . The stock market gained in May for the first time in five years. . . . The value of all shares traded on the big board has risen 11 billion dollars since March. . . . You can get a bet in high quarters that sterling will go to $4.25 in a few weeks, stabilization fund or no.

BRITAIN

In 1929 five American automobiles were sold in the British Empire for every English car. Today the ratio is two to one in favor of British cars according to confidential financial figures here. (Copyright, 1933, McClure Newspaper Syn.)

NEWPORT PERMITS GAIN DURING MAY

NEWPORT BEACH, June 7.—

Building permits issued in Newport Beach during May of this year, amounting to $29,395, were greater than May, last year, and April this year, it was shown by figures announced by A. M. Nelson, city building inspector. The figure for May last year was $24,135, and for April this year $17,665.

Among the structures for which permits were issued last month and which are now being built were a frame dwelling and garage for Fred Crowell, assistant manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Security First National bank, and a two-story frame and stucco garage and service building for C. M. Cotton. The former is at 1069 West Central, between Newport and Balboa, and the latter at 1508 East Central, Balboa peninsula.

Lido Isle, which only three years ago was improved and connected to the mainland by a bridge, now has nearly 50 modern buildings. It is reported that six more dwellings are planned for that section of the city this month.

School Inspection Ordered After Engineer's Report

LIST COURSES FOR SUMMER SCHOOL AT J. C.

Informed last night that the walls of the science building and auditorium at the high school had shifted so much that another earthquake equal in violence to the one of March 10 probably would cause them to collapse, the board of education authorized a thorough inspection of all school buildings to be made by structural engineers approved by the state division of architects.

Following the earthquake of last March which damaged some of the buildings of the school system, all school buildings were inspected by Frank Lansdown, Santa Ana architect, and Jules Markel, Santa Ana builder.

This committee reported on immediate repairs that would have to be done to make the buildings safe for occupancy during the remainder of the year, outlined repairs to be made during the summer, and pronounced other buildings safe. All necessary repairs were made by Markel on a cost plus basis.

Before the opening of school after the spring vacation the school board, acting on this committee's report, after repairs had been made, pronounced all buildings safe for occupancy.

Requested by Official Following the report made last night by D. L. Narver of the structural engineering firm of Narver and Holmes, of Los Angeles, relative to his findings in a brief check of the high school plant, Dr. Margaret Baker, member of the board said that she felt the previous inspection had given the public and members of the school board a false sense of safety.

Narver, who with his partner has been conducting inspections here for the city, said that he inspected the high school buildings at the request of City Building Inspector Sam Preble. George Newcom, business manager for the school board, accompanied Narver and Preble on the inspection.

Narver said that he did not give the high school plant a thorough inspection as that was a task that would require several days, but in a brief check found that the west and south walls of the science building had shifted two or three inches at the top and the west portion of the auditorium building had taken a similar shift.

To repair this damage, Narver said, the walls had been shoved in with jacks and were held in position by steel rods and wire cable. In his opinion, he said, a quake of similar intensity to that of March 10 would cause the damaged walls of those two buildings to collapse.

Safety Measure He said that in view of the fact that there will continue to be earthquakes in Southern California all public buildings, particularly those where children are housed should be so constructed as to withstand earth shocks. To assure this protection the state legislature adopted the Field bill, an emergency measure making it necessary for all repairs or construction on public buildings of $1000 or more to be submitted to the state division of architects for checking as to earthquake safety.

The Field bill also provides that school buildings must be inspected by the state at the expense of the school district upon request of either the governing board of the district or upon a petition signed by the parents of 10 per cent of the children attending school in the district.

It was said that the state has not yet set up the machinery for inspection.

Newcom pointed out that Lansdown and Markel, following their inspection of the buildings did not take the position that the buildings were permanently safe. He said that they held that the buildings were safe enough for occupancy during the remainder of the school year.

W. M. Burke said that inasmuch as the committee had not passed upon the question of whether or not the buildings were able to withstand similar earthquakes he would not want to take responsibility for not having all the

Carrying out the motif of the Century of Progress from the World's Fair in Chicago, the 1933 edition of the Ariel, Santa Ana high school yearbook, was being admired today by students and faculty members.

Advance distribution of the book started yesterday. Attractively bound in a red cover with modernistic designs in silver, the annual was printed in the high school print shop under the direction of Thomas E. Williams, printing advisor and Eugene McMillan, editor-in-chief. Miss Elizabeth Wyant was literary advisor of the publication.

Pictures and decorations throughout the book followed the futuristic theme of the famous exposition. The inner cover was a handsome gray and white lithograph symbolizing the many wonders of science, including air, land and water transportation, electricity, communication, radio, and music. The book was dedicated to the "Spirit of Progress."

One of the features of the book was the fine arts section, which contained contributions of poetry and prose in keeping with the trend of achievement and progress. Student authors were Betty Jane Moore, Ruth Warner, Margaret Binkham, Beatrice Granas, John Rabe and Mary Lou McFarland.

Besides McMillan, the executive staff of the Ariel included Ruth Warner and Norman Caldwell, associate editors; Ruth Dohmer, art editor; George Holmes Jr., business manager; Gordon Beisel, son of editor; Margaret Finley, literary editor; William Burnett, activities editor; Frankie McDonald, musical organizations; Mary Anna Baxter, drama editor; Charles Downie, men's athletics; Marjorie Lauderback, girls' athletics; Genevieve Hanson, alumni; Harold Lutes, snapshot editor; Margaret Bingham, calendar editor; and Dorothy Ryan, typist.

The art staff was composed of Ruth Dohmer, editor; Elizabeth Woods, associate editor; Jane Hill, Janet Hatt, LaVerne Stewart, Margaret Sawyer, Fujie Kodama, Ruby White, Helen Harper, Helen Logue and Armand Hanson. Advisers for the annual were Miss Elizabeth Wyant, literary; Miss Frances Egge, art; Thomas E. Williams, printing; and George B. Holmes, business.

SOCIETY TO MEET ORANGE, June 7.—A monthly meeting will be held Friday afternoon by members of the Woman's Missionary society of First Baptist church, who will meet at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Hazel Hasty, 233 North Orange street. Mrs. Ida Linnell, president, will be in charge of the business meeting.

school buildings officially inspected. In moving to authorize the immediate inspection of all buildings by engineers approved by the state, Rolla Hays said that with the lives of children at stake the board should not fall to order the inspection.

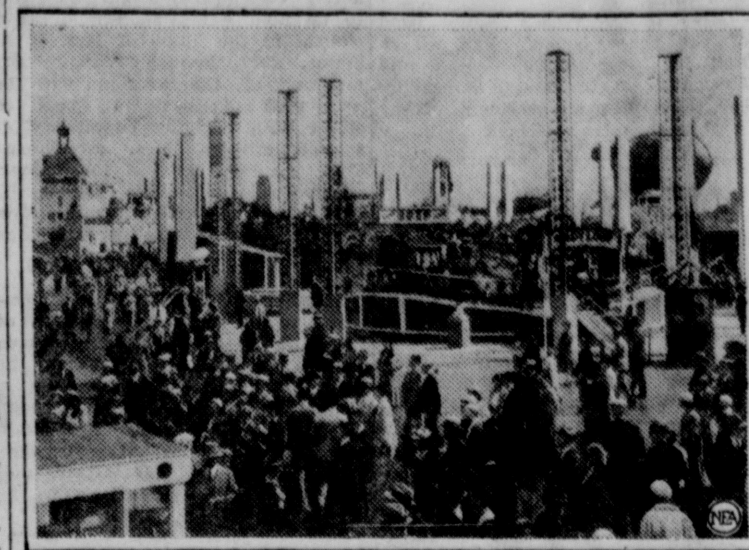

He said that in view of the fact that there will continue to be earthquakes in Southern California all public buildings, particularly those where children are housed should be so constructed as to withstand earth shocks. To assure this protection the state legislature adopted the Field bill, an emergency measure making it necessary for all repairs or construction on public buildings of $1000 or more to be submitted to the state division of architects for checking as to earthquake safety.

The 1933 Midway

CHICAGO, June 7.—Thousands by any one of a score of attractions designed for children only. The answer depends of course on how far the visitor travels, how long he stays in Chicago, and many other things.

However, it has been estimated that an individual can spend a week taking in the sights at A Century of Progress, seeing 90 per cent of all there is to see, and stopping at a good hotel for well under $50.

This figure would include: Room with bath, five days, $12.50. Meals for seven days, $14. Admission to the fair, six days, $6.

Admission to Chinese Temple, Streets of Paris, Belgian and Oriental Villages, South Pole Ship, Fort Dearborn and Lincoln group, $3.10. Admissions to supplementary exhibits at Art Institute, Field Museum, Shedd Aquarium and Adler Planetarium, $1.

Miscellaneous slideshows, including Spectaculum, 75 cents. Local transportation in Chicago, $1.20. This totals $38.55. The figures allow for little but essentials and obviously may be contracted or expanded as the visitor wishes. Transportation by train or auto will be added expense.

Many Exhibits Free Whether a person stays within his budget depends largely on how much he spends on that boulevard of ballyhoo, the Midway, where amusement concessions are located. It derives its name as well as its scale of prices from Chicago's first fair in 1893.

Most of the fair exhibits are free, and among them is the Enchanted Isle for children, where sightseeing parents may check their offspring while they see the fair.

However, the children themselves must pay sums ranging from a penny to 15 cents to explore the Magic Mountain, or ride on the miniature railroad, or be amused

Daily sessions of the annual summer session of the Santa Ana Junior college will be held this year from June 19 to July 23 under the instruction of a staff of teachers from the junior college and high school.

Dean McKee Fisk of the junior college is supervising the school, which will offer a complete list of jaycee subjects and a limited number of high school classes. Admission to college courses for the summer session will be the same as for regular sessions and any graduate of a standard high school is eligible for admission to the college. Qualified individuals will be admitted to high school courses. Registration will be held Friday and Saturday, June 16 and 17, at the junior college.

One of the featured college courses to be offered will be "Great Personalities" by Mrs. Jennie Lasby Tesson, instructor of history and astronomy. She will lead a discussion of modern and living leaders in the world today and introduce a series of short biographies. Mrs. Tesson will also teach a survey course in astronomy, which will be supplemented by frequent trips to the Blanton observatory on Lemon Heights.

Thomas H. Glenn, head of the English department, will conduct a popular class in modern drama. His year of study in France and Europe in 1932 will be used to advantage in this course, Dean Fisk said. He will probably conduct a class in English composition or public speaking in addition.

Those taking office with Miss Saffley were Mrs. Raymond Terry, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Albert Harvey, second vice president and social chairman; Miss Virginia Bailey, secretary; Mrs. Glenn Kirby, treasurer.

In a group of violin selections, Mrs. Matthews was accompanied by Florence Newkirk of Anaheim. "Cree War Dance" by Carden, a Negro Spiritual, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," by White, "Third Plantation Dance" by Shikret and "Liebeslied" by Kreiser, were her numbers.

New D. A. R. Officers Enjoy Luncheon In Regent's Home

One of the first official acts of Mrs. Henry W. Guthrie following her installation as regent of Santa Ana chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, was to assemble her board of members for an informal discussion of plans to be developed during the coming year of D. A. R. activities.

To do this, Mrs. Guthrie extended an invitation to her sister officers to have luncheon with her yesterday in her home, 824 North Olive street, where she had made pleasant plans for their reception and entertainment. Informality prevailed, and plans suggested and developed, promise an interesting year when the chapter resumes activities after a mid-summer recess.

Guests found places indicated for them at two tables, each gay with flowers and place cards in red, white and blue, to suggest the patriotic nature of the organization to which they belong.

Enjoying Mrs. Guthrie's hospitality were Mrs. John L. Mitchell, Mrs. C. C. Chapman, Mrs. Calvin Rowland, Mrs. S. W. Andrews, Mrs. A. J. McFadden, Mrs. E. G. Warner, Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Mrs. E. G. Summers, Mrs. Arthur May, Miss Mabel Larrick and Mrs. Cotton Mather.

During a business session Miss Dorothy Tedford was elected president; Miss Leonore Walker, vice president; Miss Ruth Crowl, secretary and Miss Evelyn Furtch, treasurer.

Bridge was played with Miss Helen Bower scoring high and Miss Jean Scott, low, the former receiving a clever set of Chinese block wood dice, and the latter a Mexican basket.

Refreshments were then served at which time the recent house party at the Laguna Beach home of Miss Ruth Collins, was the topic of conversation.

Members attending were the advisors, Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Dorothy Decker and the Misses Helen Bower, Ruth Collins, Joy McPhie, Bonnie Kiser, Evelyn Furtch, Marian Leithy, Ruth Crowl, Mary Helen Bell, Mabel Peoples, Dorothy Tedford, Alline Buck, Leonore Walker, Kay Holmes, Betty Whitney, Louise Newcom, Verna Helm, Frances Robinson, Jean Scott and Rachel Johnston.

Not only was election of officers held at the Junior Lion meeting in the home of Bill Proctor, 607 East Pine street, but also plans were made for a stag banquet to be held June 15 at which time these officers will be installed. A decision was reached to meet throughout the summer on the first Monday of each month and to call special meetings when necessary.

Officers who will conduct club affairs for the coming school year are Bill Proctor, president; Harry Clark, vice president; Austin Joy, secretary and Dave Whitford, jail twister. EAT AND GROW SLIM

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
Dinner
Large plate of all-vegetable soup
4 Tbsp. beet greens cooked with 2 small slices crisped bacon
1-egg omelette with
1 Tbsp. grated cheese over top
Salad: 1 small orange, sliced
1 slice of pineapple
Lettuce hearts
Mineral oil mayonnaise
Clear tea, no sugar.
Calory total, 515.

The family can use this dinner with certain changes. Cook plenty of young beets, tops and root in separate pots, then combine and season with crisp bacon and vinegar. They might also have individual omelettes, but larger ones. The salad serves for all, only the diet portion being dressed with mineral oil mayonnaise.

Some sort of crisp rolls or bread for the family and their favorite dessert complete their meal. Easy, isn't it?

So many inquiries come to me about exercises to use through the period one is on a reducing diet. I have reached the conclusion that a set form of exercise is practically a waste of time as far as results go. Walk, work in the garden, golf, play tennis, swim, but don't make a martyr of yourself doing exercises to take off the bulk around your waist line or hips. Those little bulges disappear as you lose weight, so don't worry about them.

Today's Eat and Grow Slim dinner

ner has been taken from the 21-Day Diet. Those interested in this diet, please clip and save. It is out of print and cannot be published again.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Hot Tea Scones
3 cups sifted flour
3 tps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1-2 cup sugar
1-2 cup butter
1 scant cup currants
Juice of 1-2 lemon
Milk to make a soft dough.
First, wash and dry the currants, then cream the butter and sugar and rub the mixture through the flour, previously sifted with baking powder and salt. The lemon juice goes into the butter and sugar as it is creamed.
Add milk by degrees, mixing carefully so that you get a soft dough-biscuit dough to be exact. Fold in the currants as the mixing proceeds, turn the dough into a floured board, shape and roll out to a half-inch in thickness.
Cut in triangles, brush with butter after placing the pieces in a pan and bake in a hot oven about ten minutes. Split and spread with butter before sending to the table.

The calories total a trifle over 3200. I'd say the average value of such scones would be not over 100 calories. Of course that total does not cover butter and jam.

L. A. SHERIFF TO SPEAK FOR PEACE OFFICERS

Peace officers of Orange county and visiting guests from Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, and San Diego counties, will gather tonight at Camp's cafe on the state highway between Anaheim and Santa Ana for the monthly meeting of the Orange County Peace officers' association.

All active members and their wives are to be the guests of the associate members at the banquet, which starts at 6:30 o'clock. Between 300 and 400 are expected and if the weather permits, the program will be given outdoors.

Eugene Biscailuz, sheriff of Los Angeles county, will be the speaker of the evening. Prominent law enforcement heads from all parts of Southern California have been invited to attend, including Governor James Rolph, who is in the South for a few days.

JEFFERSONIAN CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

C. Harold Dale, formerly prominent in Kansas City Democratic circles, was elected permanent president of the Jeffersonian club, young Democrats, at a special meeting held last night at 109 East Fourth street.

Arthur Casey, who worked in the presidential campaign and who is a Junior college student, was elected vice chairman.

A. D. Comito, secretary of the Santa Ana Roosevelt-for-President club and manager of the Orange Democratic headquarters during the national campaign, was retained as secretary. Wendell W. Finley, son of Col. S. H. Finley, prominent Democrat, was chosen treasurer.

Following a report given by Comito concerning the effect of the Wagner bill on the relief of the unemployed in this state, the club adopted a resolution favoring the measure for passage of a $20,000,000 bond issue relief for the unemployed which will appear on the ballot June 27.

According to the basis upon which allotments are apportioned, in the event the California bond issue passes, Orange county's share for unemployment will be about $60,000 a month, it was said at the meeting.

FINLEY TALKS AT 20-30 CLUB MEETING HERE

Wendell Finley, formerly with the Standard Statistics company of New York, delivered a craft talk before members and guests of the Santa Ana Twenty-Three club last night at Ketter's cafe. His talk covered the methods used in analyzing financial statements and condensing them into their statistical report.

Mac Warko, president of the Sea Scout troop sponsored by the young man's service club, presented the club with a gavel in appreciation of the club's support in the scout work.

Entertainment for the meeting was in charge of Dick Ewert, who presented the dance team of Gene a series of offbeat dances. M. J. McKany and Lorie Buel, who gave a series of tap dances. They were accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Buel. Guests of the club for the evening, besides the entertainers, were Vic Fleming, member of the Anaheim club, and Mrs. McKany, mother of Gene McKany.

Howard McIlvain reported that the club's box social event would be held June 27 at Irvine park.

DOCTOR DENIES TREATMENT OF SUING PATIENT

With a motion for nonsuit denied by Superior Judge James L. Allen late yesterday, Dr. D. A. Harwood, Santa Ana surgeon, took the witness stand as the first witness on his own behalf in a $26,257 damage suit in which L. D. Reynolds alleges malpractice.

O. A. Jacobs, attorney for Dr. Harwood, at the completion of evidence to sustain charges made by Reynolds, moved for nonsuit on the grounds that it had not been shown by expert testimony that infection which Reynolds claims as the basis for his suit, resulted from the point where Dr. Harwood was alleged to have made hypodermic injections in Reynolds' throat.

Testifying on his own behalf Dr. Harwood told of treatment given Reynolds. He testified that Reynolds came to him for treatment for neuritis and told him that he had been treated by many other doctors but had been given no relief.

He said that he examined Reynolds and told him that his tonsils were causing the trouble

SALARY CUTS DISCUSSED BY SCHOOL BOARD

It is probable that the matter of teachers' salaries for 1933-34 will be decided next Tuesday night when the Santa Ana board of education holds its regular meeting.

Last night the problem was discussed and Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson recommended adjustments, including some regular increases and reductions that would top approximately $68,615 in addition to approximately $18,000 already cut off through release of teachers and dropping of services.

Henderson said that many teachers in the city system have been treated unfairly in relation of their salaries to those paid other teachers. He said that adjustments should be made before salaries are established for the year. It is not fair, he said, to make a flat reduction of salaries without first affecting an adjustment between the high and low salaries.

Henderson suggested that teachers be entitled to the annual increase in salaries be given 50 per cent of the increase before the reduction. Previously the board has voted to suspend all increases. In every case, except those of teachers receiving the minimum, the actual reduction in salary would be between 9 and 10 per cent, he said.

Salaries paid for the year 1932-33 totaled $54,865. With reductions in teaching personnel already made the salary budget plus the 50 per cent increases which Henderson is recommending allowed on a 50 per cent basis, the salary budget for 1933-34 would be $51,388. The anticipated percentage reduction would bring the total for salaries next year down to $49,250.

W. M. Burke, member of the board, said that under the suggested program the public would consider it an increase in salary and not a decrease. He said that all the public will see is that some teachers have been released and others had had their pay increased.

Dr. Margarette Baker said that no one could think that the program would be an increase in salary when the figures show that it is a reduction of approximately 10 per cent in all salaries over $1200. She said that she would like to see the minimum salary set at $1200. This would require addition of $401.12 to the salary budget.

Henderson said that the program of reduction proposed would graduate the pay cuts making teachers in the higher brackets bear the heaviest burden of reduction. With this program and the $18,000 already saved through releases and elimination of services the reduction in the salary budget would be more than 10 per cent.

Burke said that he believes the public is expecting an actual reduction of 10 per cent in salaries in addition to the $18,000 price saving and requested that the schedule as presented next week be figured on a 10 per cent cut basis.

P. T. A. COUNCIL ASKS CITY FOR APPROPRIATION

A resolution declaring there is need in this community for recreation and urging the council to act aside $500 in the budget for a summer playground program, was adopted by the Santa Ana Council of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, representing 854 members, at a session yesterday afternoon in the school administration building.

Adoption of the resolution followed addresses by Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of schools, and by Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford, president of the council.

The resolution asserted that recreation is a vital need of any city during the summer months and that it has been fully demonstrated that a lack of proper recreational program is responsible for delinquent and problem cases much more expensive to the community in both standards and money. It was asserted that there are 8000 Santa Ana school children who should have adequate recreation during their idle days, showing that delinquencies increase when children have nothing to do. She also pointed out the dangers of accidents if children play on the streets. She said a playground program could be financed for $500

PLAN SUMMER TRAINING FOR BAND AT H. S.

Santa Ana high school will have a larger band drilled to parade with the precision of a military band when the football season opens next year if plans of Prof. S. J. Mustol, high school band director, and Eddie Couron, drum major for the Santa Ana Legion drum corps materialize.

Couron appeared before the board of education last night and told of plans that he and Mustol have evolved for summer drill for an augmented band to represent the high school.

Students interested in the project may register with Professor Mustol at the high school or with Couron at Winbigger's Funeral home.

He said that he is going to work with Mustol in his spare time drilling the band in maneuvers and that under Mustol's plan the band will be increased in size and will have a probable addition of a drum section composed of 20 high school girls. This increase in the band and the summer training will be without cost to the school system, it was said.

The board of education also granted the Legion drum corps permission to use the high school football field two nights weekly from now until August for drill preparatory to entry in the state competition to be held at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena.

The affair will be a stag event and those attending will bring their own steaks to be baked over an open fire and which will be served in the yard of the Bacon home as the main dish in an elaborate dinner. Members of American Legion Post No. 131 auxiliary will assist in the serving.

Following the dinner, card games and other entertainment will be presented. Those who desire can come early and play tennis on the private court at Bacon's home, it was announced.

Definite plans for future activities of the club, including participation in the Fiesta del Ora, will be discussed at the meeting.

CHESS EXPERT WILL PLAY AT TOMORROW

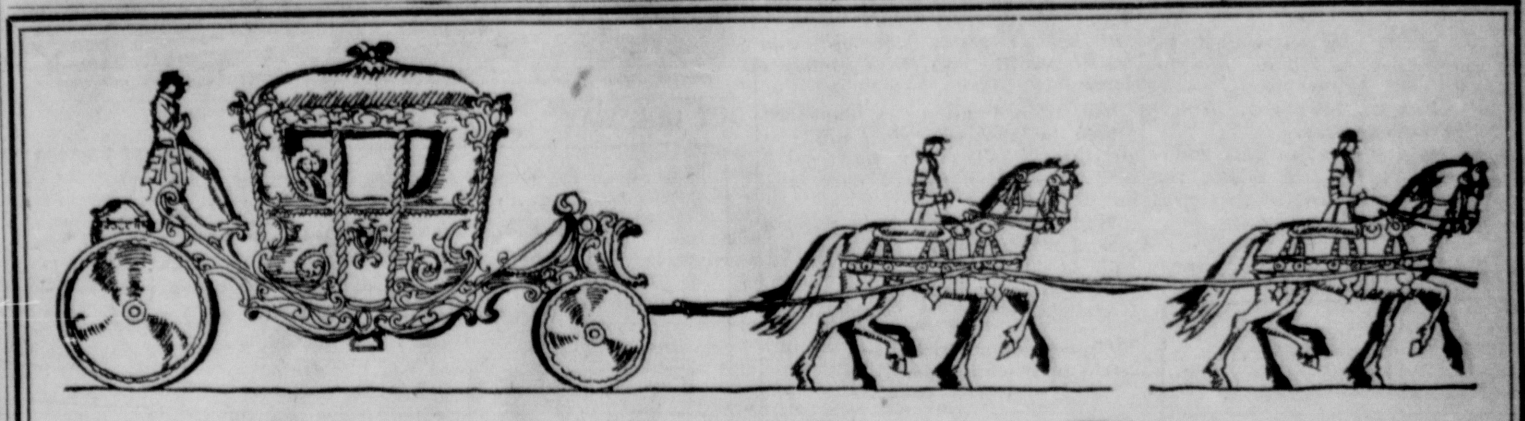

A session of simultaneous play is in view for members of the Y. M. C. A. Chess club tomorrow night in the clubrooms in the "Y" building when E. P. Dow of Laguna Beach, said to be one of the strongest players in the state, will meet the entire membership of the club in simultaneous games.

It is expected that Dow will have at least 20 opponents and that the expert will have ample competition among the local players, some of whom have shown exceptional ability at playing chess.

However, it is fully expected that Dow will win most of the games in spite of the difficulty in this type of play. He will limit his consideration of moves to five seconds, whereas each competing player will have much more time to consider his next move.

A lecture on the fundamentals of chess play will be delivered by Dow immediately preceding the commencement of the tournament. Dow discovered and developed Pillsbury, one of the world master chess players who held the world championship for many years.

All chess players were invited to attend the meeting.

OSWALD'S MEATS

THE KNYVIES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

Poor Duncy! He was filled with fright. That's why he ran with all his might. The giant stood, dumfounded for a moment. Then he smiled.

"I must have been a sight to see to that strange little lad," said he. "If he starts any trouble, he will surely get me riled."

"I wonder just how he got in my home? I'm sure the doors have been locked tight. Oh, well, I'll soon find out. The lad can't get away."

"He'll find he's in an awful mess. He'll try to hide from me, I guess, but I will find him. Then I'll make him work the live-long day."

The giant stomped across the floor and, now and then, he stopped to roar. "Come forth, young man! I won't hurt you. You're safe as safe can be."

"I'll let you live here, if you're good and do all the things you should. Then, maybe, if you work real hard, I'll shortly turn you free."

Wee Duncy heard him, but he thought that's just a trick so I'll be caught. I've found a dandy hiding place and I'll not move from here.

Much closer calls than this I've had. If I am found 'twill be too bad. Just then he heard loud footsteps and they sounded very near.

He peeked out of his hiding place. A frown was on the giant's face, and Duncy heard him say, "I'm getting tired of looking 'round."

"I'd like to take a nap, but not! Right through my whole house I will go. I won't give up this search until that little fellow's found."

He walked up to a cupboard where he shouted, "Hey, are you in there? I'll soon find out!" And then the cupboard door was opened wide.

"I'm wrong again. This puzzles me. I wonder where that boy can be. At hiding he is very good," the monstrous giant cried.

(Duncy sees Dotty and Goldy again in the next story.)

La Habra May Seek R. F. C. Funds For New City Hall

CLEAN-UP WEEK SCHEDULED FOR JUNE 19 TO 24

LA HABRA, June 7.—Erection of a city hall was discussed at the city council session last night, with City Attorney Harold McCabe instructed to secure information relative to Reconstruction Finance corporation funds for the project.

The city is renting space at present. The site for the proposed city hall is at Main and Erna street, where the fire station is located.

June 19 to 24 was set aside by the council for Clean-up week in La Habra. The city truck will be at the disposal of residents and will call for rubbish and brush and haul it away. At this same time the weeds will be cleared from all vacant property in the city.

Mayor John T. Knudson announced that it would be necessary for him to resign his place on the council soon, but that he would remain a member of the council until the new water system was established on a firm basis. Mr. Knudson finds that his personal business will make it necessary for him to move to Los Angeles.

J. E. McGrath requested that water be furnished to a certain tract of land lying to the south of the city on which he and his partner have erected 20 houses. These houses are rented for the most part to Mexican people. Mr. McGrath was informed of the deposit necessary for the installation of the meters.

Resolution No. 194 was adopted, "advocating the issuance of national currency to municipalities on the pledge of their bonds," in accordance with a letter received from a committee on taxation and financial problems. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to congress.

NEW OFFICERS GROUP IN BREA SELECTED FOR

BREA, June 7.—More than 100 were in attendance at the meeting of the Unemployed Workers' association Tuesday night, when the election of a chairman to take the place of Joe B. Davis, resigned, took place.

George Himes, first vice chairman, who has been acting chairman for the past several months due to the absence from the city of Davis, was elected to fill the vacancy and A. E. Lynes was elected to fill the office left vacant by Himes. The resignation of F. B. Guard as second vice chairman and of Roger Perdue as third vice chairman, resulted in the election of Jack Bailey and Walter Yates to fill these respective offices.

R. L. Proffitt was elected to take the place of W. C. Churchhill, member of the board of directors, who is to be absent from the city. Roy Wheeler, George Wade and Ray Wolfe, all members of the board of directors, tendered their resignations and these places were filled by Eula Lawson, Joe Smith and Frank Bickel. Lester L. Lemon presided during the election of officers and board members.

LAGUNA BEACH, June 7.—Explained by N. E. West, chairman of the taxation committee, as a move to save $170,000,000 to the taxpayers of the nation, the Laguna Beach Realty board, at its meeting Tuesday at the White House cafe, authorized the sending of the following telegram to Senator William Gibbs McAdoo and Congressman Sam Collins:

"The Laguna Beach Realty board, without political bias, urges you to support the president's economy program. We believe the matter of fair adjustment of veterans' compensation can be safely left to our president and his aides."

West, who also is chairman of the taxation committee of the Orange County Coast association, declared that hundreds of thousands of able-bodied men were living well at the expense of the taxpayers who were having a hard struggle to meet their bills. The economy program was aimed at this condition, he said, and while admitting that on the face of it many injustices would be done, he said he had faith in the ability of President Roosevelt and his advisors to make the proper adjustments.

The motion was opposed by A. B. Marshall, former president of the board, and a veteran of the Spanish-American war, on the ground that such matters should be left to the representatives in congress to decide.

Support for Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 30, which will be Proposition No. 1 on the June 27 state ballot, was urged by Glenn D. Willaman, state secretary of the California Real Estate association. Carson Smith, manager of a title company in Santa Ana, told the realtors that business conditions were improving and that the month of May had seen the turnover of more real estate than any month for several years. Frank C. Pope, Santa Ana, vice president of the state association, gave an optimistic talk, predicting good conditions by the fall.

Stuart Strathman, secretary, was asked to write to Sacramento for copies of the laws to appear on the ballot June 27 that members of the Placentia chamber may use them at open forum.

BUILDING IN LAGUNA BEACH SHOWS GAIN IN PAST MONTH

LAGUNA BEACH, June 7.—Building for May in Laguna Beach increased about 250 per cent over April, according to figures released today by Floyd W. Case, chief building inspector. He quoted the total of $16,925 for the month just passed, as compared with $6335 for April. Inquiries from property owners and builders indicate a great deal of activity for June, Case declared. Most of the permits were taken out for new homes or extensions and repairs to homes.

Roy M. Ropp, president of the Realty board, said today there is a marked activity in the real estate market, not only for the purchase of property, but in rentals. One firm had four deals in escrow at one time within a week. All brokers have reported activity in the market.

Frank D. Hevener, executive vice president of the Citizens' bank, reported deposits for May increased 20 per cent over April. He said there is an increased confidence generally in business. This is in spite of the fact that the weather this spring has been the coolest in a great many years. Comfortable temperatures in the interior towns have held back the seasonal rush to the beaches.

WEEK-END MURDER

"But it'll have to be the flowered chignon. I hope we don't dance after or it'll be a wreck!"

"If my total costume consisted of two layers of chignon and a lace handkerchief I could dance all night," retorted her husband savagely. "When we live in a tropic climate why don't we dress like sensible South Sea Islanders?"

"Don't get a blood pressure, darling," cooed his wife. "You've a busy evening before you. Somewhere, somehow, there's dynamite in this here party! Tommy, I'm all tangled—pull it down gently—that's a dear! I'll put your studs in—"

Even the layer of chignon seemed to add to the heat and suddenly Linda was not only hot but horribly distressed; so heavily conscious of the weight of air upon her and of some distant hovering as of unheard of thunder that she fell silent and her fingers moved mechanically.

"I wish this week-end were over!" she said to herself, and then wondered if she had said it aloud. A glance at Tom reassured her. The old darling was giving her that irrepresible look at the exact center of the back of his head a final stifle brushing down and whistling soundlessly in serene concentration.

"I'm ready, angel, and I'm starting," she said. "I want to slip down the back stairs into the kitchen a moment. Kiss me, Tom!"

He came back from his struggle to peck at her cheek with abstracted affection. "All right, Binks!"

"Fine!" she answered and managed to put into her words a ring of the lurking uneasiness within her. How explosive the elements she had mixed within the house, her prophetic soul had lamentably failed to inform her.

Going down the front stairs only a moment later, Tom was first to meet the long-unseen former suitor, bending attentively over the lower shelf of a bookcase in the big central room.

"You must be Mr. Pratt!" A startled face, with pronouncedly undershot jaw below an iron-gray pompadour, turned quickly at the words and the man seemed for a second to recoil against the shelves of books, one hand behind him. Inwardly Tom was thinking, "And you must be a damned quick mover—last to come and first down stairs!" He finished the sentence audibly with the warm smile which was among his best assets.

Recovering from his momentary surprise, the other gripped his hand so firmly that for all his own muscle Averill almost showed his discomfort.

"And you're Tom Averill!" A voice deep and resonant. The voice of an accomplished public speaker and a smile which, though humorous, relieved and lightened a face too heavy in repose.

The greeting over, the two men stood a moment awkwardly, then each broke the short silence with hasty speech.

"You must be Mr. Pratt!" A startled face, with pronouncedly undershot jaw below an iron-gray pompadour, turned quickly at the words and the man seemed for a second to recoil against the shelves of books, one hand behind him. Inwardly Tom was thinking, "And you must be a damned quick mover—last to come and first down stairs!" He finished the sentence audibly with the warm smile which was among his best assets.

Recovering from his momentary surprise, the other gripped his hand so firmly that for all his own muscle Averill almost showed his discomfort.

"And you're Tom Averill!" A voice deep and resonant. The voice of an accomplished public speaker and a smile which, though humorous, relieved and lightened a face too heavy in repose.

The greeting over, the two men stood a moment awkwardly, then each broke the short silence with hasty speech.

"Your wife's all right—?"

"Linda's coming right down."

They laughed with a little constraint, and this time Averill took the lead more naturally.

EXERCISES FOR CYPRESS GRADE SCHOOL JUNE 15

CYPRESS, June 7.—Preparations for the commencement exercises of the graduating class of Cypress grammar school are under way under the direction of Mrs. Jo Calder. The exercises will be held June 15.

The address of welcome will be by Jennella Hill, the class salutatorian. The valedictory will be delivered by Bruce Hunt. Presentation of the diplomas is to be made by Sam Miller, president of the board of trustees. Two short plays are to be presented by the graduating class.

The fifteen members of the graduating class are: Bruce Hunt, Jennella Hill, Jack Brady, Harold Boettcher, Mildred Boettcher, Loren Ledford, Tony Andre, Donald Davis, Velma Scallie, Avis Kelly, Naomi Norland, Carl Copeland, Tom Tanaka, Ruth Grindlay and Bud Castro.

Teachers whose terms expire at the end of this term are: Mrs. Jo Calder, principal; Mrs. Juliette Morris, Mrs. Flossie D. Kirk and Harold Jones.

In their places have been hired Harold O. Boos, of Westminster, as principal, Miss Mildred Blair, Miss Margaret Larsh and Miss Elizabeth Dickerson. Miss Alice Remington and Miss Virginia Bailey will remain on the teaching staff.

LEAVES FOR NORTH

PLACENTIA, June 7.—Miss Emily Cuff has left for San Francisco, to be gone a week or 10 days on a business trip.

GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

"But it'll have to be the flowered chignon. I hope we don't dance after or it'll be a wreck!"

"If my total costume consisted of two layers of chignon and a lace handkerchief I could dance all night," retorted her husband savagely. "When we live in a tropic climate why don't we dress like sensible South Sea Islanders?"

"Don't get a blood pressure, darling," cooed his wife. "You've a busy evening before you. Somewhere, somehow, there's dynamite in this here party! Tommy, I'm all tangled—pull it down gently—that's a dear! I'll put your studs in—"

Even the layer of chignon seemed to add to the heat and suddenly Linda was not only hot but horribly distressed; so heavily conscious of the weight of air upon her and of some distant hovering as of unheard of thunder that she fell silent and her fingers moved mechanically.

"I wish this week-end were over!" she said to herself, and then wondered if she had said it aloud. A glance at Tom reassured her. The old darling was giving her that irrepresible look at the exact center of the back of his head a final stifle brushing down and whistling soundlessly in serene concentration.

"I'm ready, angel, and I'm starting," she said. "I want to slip down the back stairs into the kitchen a moment. Kiss me, Tom!"

He came back from his struggle to peck at her cheek with abstracted affection. "All right, Binks!"

"Fine!" she answered and managed to put into her words a ring of the lurking uneasiness within her. How explosive the elements she had mixed within the house, her prophetic soul had lamentably failed to inform her.

Going down the front stairs only a moment later, Tom was first to meet the long-unseen former suitor, bending attentively over the lower shelf of a bookcase in the big central room.

"You must be Mr. Pratt!" A startled face, with pronouncedly undershot jaw below an iron-gray pompadour, turned quickly at the words and the man seemed for a second to recoil against the shelves of books, one hand behind him. Inwardly Tom was thinking, "And you must be a damned quick mover—last to come and first down stairs!" He finished the sentence audibly with the warm smile which was among his best assets.

MORGAN AS AN AUTHORITY ON "DISTRIBUTING WEALTH"

J. P. Morgan, who is before the Senate committee, has broken into print in England. He declares: "Unrest in the world is caused by the socialistic trend of government." He says: "Europe, France and the United States are examples of what legislatures will do in order to give the people what they want." He then proceeds to discuss capitalism and socialism, and he says he is for capitalism, because "it is the best means of distributing wealth."

Mr. Morgan's opinions and criticisms upon these points would not be worth considering, were it not for the degree of importance he holds in the financial world. The trouble with the United States is not that the people have been getting what they want. The trouble is that they have been getting what men like Morgan desired to give them, and the real manipulations are not known until representatives of the people begin to disclose them, as they are now doing in the Morgan investigation. Let us examine that for a moment.

Mr. Morgan proceeds to "distribute wealth" by this manner. He lets a number of men, who are very wealthy already, in on the purchase of stock, for a fraction of what they propose to sell it for outside in the open. If this stock is worth what it is being sold for in the open, then the "insiders" are receiving stock, and expecting to get dividends upon a basis for which they have only partially paid. In other words, they expect to get something for nothing.

They expect to get dividends on stock, for which they have not paid, providing the stock is going to continue to be of the value that they are selling it for. If it is not of the value they are selling it for in the open market, then Mr. Morgan and his friends are getting money out of the pockets of outsiders, without giving them anything in return for it. In view of the fact that in one particular case the stock had been unloaded on the "outside" parties for $37, and it is now selling at $2, it would indicate that the public had paid money without getting adequate reward for it. Incidentally the "insiders" were "euchred" in the same manner, only to a lesser degree, for it has dropped from the $20 they paid to the $2 for which it is now selling. In some cases both the "insiders" and the "outsiders" were "euchred," the difference being only a matter of degree.

The whole process through which this secret business works is on the theory, either that the public shall pay more than the thing is worth, which, as we have said, is taking the money out of their pockets without equivalent return, or that the "insiders" are getting something in their pockets, for which they make no return, and which the public finally has to pay.

The essence of crime, theft, burglary, embezzlement, etc., is taking from another without giving him an equivalent return. It is done in this manner, and usually without the other man's knowledge. But what difference is there in morals whether you fooled and deceived him as to the worth, so that you have taken his money without giving him an equivalent reward, or whether you have taken his money without giving him the reward, not by deceiving him, misrepresenting, but simply when he wasn't looking? This method of "distributing wealth" is the thing that Mr. Morgan says must be preserved.

And that "the unrest of governments is caused by the people making an effort to get what they want"—well, we believe there is something in this "unrest" proposition. When millions of people have found that they have been "euchred" by the manner above described, they do become restless, and they want a change. But this demand for a change has not caused the depression. The truth is that this legalized "euchring" of people out of their money in one form and another, has produced the depression, because they found themselves with securities or land or property worth only a fraction of what they paid for it. Hence they could not borrow upon it; they could not get the money they paid for it, and foreclosures and bankruptcies and disaster are the result.

In fact, it has been primarily these Morgan processes that have produced the depression. Mr. Morgan says it is people getting things done FOR them, for which they have not worked. But we believe the majority of folks will think that the condition is due to the people having things done TO them who have done the work.

Mr. Morgan is hardly a good spokesman for the group just now. The reaction may take legislators to extremes in order to correct some of the wrongs. But this is due to the nature and importance of the wrongs, and not to the people. A dictatorship protecting such practices might tend to prevent correction. A democracy tends to work it out.

THE SECURITIES ACT

Dr. A. A. Berle, jr., one of the members of President Roosevelt's "brain trust," contributes a feature article to the Sunday New York Times of June 4th on the new Securities Act which he had so much to do in framing.

Nothing was more needed to protect the people of the country from the speculative onslaughts of investment promoters. Billions have been taken from the savings of the people of the country through worthless and highly speculative flotation of stocks and bonds. Many of these flotations were by respectable financial houses in which the people had the highest confidence. The Kreuger and the Insull collapses were directly the fault of investment houses which hitherto had borne an enviable reputation for honesty and wisdom in the placing of funds. The same is true of foreign securities placed by leading financial houses in this country.

It was to correct such conditions for the future that the administration framed and secured the passage of this Securities Act. It provides for the establishment of liability upon the issuer and the underwriter of securities. It is now a penal offense to sell or offer for sale a security which has not been registered with the Federal Trade Commission. The issuer of these securities is liable if the registration statement contains a material untruth or omits to state a material fact. A provision is inserted exempting from liability if the issuer has made his statement on the basis of expert accountant advice. The law virtually requires the banker to use reasonable care in putting out his security and acquiring his information. If he has not that information himself, he must rely on experts.

In detail, the Act calls for a disclosure of the fees and remuneration paid to the officers of the corporation and the underwriters who offer the securities for sale. All facts to appear in an advertisement must be in the hands of the Federal Trade Commission thirty days before the public issue.

This is the most important legislation yet enacted to protect investors from worthless or highly speculative securities. The Act is based largely on British legislation which has been in force for more than a century.

Certainly, nothing was more needed than this legislation in view of the tremendous losses sustained by the investment public during the boom years preceding the collapse of October, 1929. The States of the Union and the Federal government alike have been exceedingly lax in protecting the public from questionable and worthless securities. A new era has been entered upon in this matter. It took just such a financial collapse as we have been passing through to make this legislation possible. England was driven to legislation like this by the bursting of the South Sea Bubble in 1720, the worst crash in the history of English national finance. It took a similar crash to get this legislation here.

More than 4,000,000 people in this country can neither read nor write, says the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy. Might send them to Germany, where they wouldn't be allowed to, anyway.

SOVIET REPORTED "THRILLED"

In her book, "Red Virtue," Ella Winter tells us that in Russia people are developing an entirely different set of ideals and morals. They aim for different things than people do elsewhere; they rejoice over things that we would not think worth rejoicing about. If such is the case, then the writer of news heads who said, in a head, that the Soviet people were "thrilled" over the opening of a new tractor factory, was quite correct in his use of the word. The word "thrilled" has been used a bit loosely but it seems to be triumphing in hitherto out of the way places.

The tractor plant is the biggest tractor plant in the world. It was opened at Cheliabinsk, in the Ural Mountains. The plant is designed to produce 40,000 60-horsepower caterpillar-type tractors yearly.

But lest we put too much weight on the "thrills" of the people of Russia as indicating changed mores, we recall that in this country people were wont to thrill, too, at mere size.

Reviving Industry Finds Soft Men And Machines

San Bernardino Sun

An interesting example of how one thing leads to another as the industrial pickup gets under way is the experience of an Akron rubber company. It called back a large number of men who had been unemployed for 18 months to two years. It expected to resume production at the 1928-30 rate. Two unsuspected obstacles appeared.

In the first place, the men proved to be soft and out of condition. Eager as they were to work, they could not immediately strike the fast, efficient pace they had formerly maintained. Time will remove this obstacle. In the meantime it teaches a lesson about human deterioration under enforced idleness.

The second delaying factor was the deterioration which had taken place in the machinery. Parts broke frequently. Belts broke. Elevators got out of order. All sorts of things went wrong and stopped work until repairs could be made.

The depreciated machinery cost the rubber company time and money, but it stimulated industrial recovery in another way. Scores of tool and factory equipment plants began to get rush orders. A lively replacement business enabled them to call their own workers back to various jobs. Similar experiences in many other industries and plants are helping to spread employment more rapidly.

Double Centenary

San Francisco Chronicle

This year of 1933 sees the celebration of the centenaries of two of the greatest geniuses the English speaking stage has known, Edmund Kean, who died in May, 1833, and Edwin Booth, who was born in November of that year. Kean was romantic in nature and in his art; greatest of the romantics he has been called. He burst on London in 1814 like a blazing star; conquered the city in a night, and reigned for a dozen years. But he let success go to his head; fell into dissipation, lost his popularity, and died an old man at 46, falling into the arms of his son as they acted together for the first time.

Edwin Booth learned acting in San Francisco, whither his father brought him as a lad of 19 and left him here. It was in California that he first played Hamlet, the role with which his name is forever associated, and here he played many parts, polishing his art, finding his work in the world, of the theater and going from San Francisco to the East to triumph there and take his place as the first actor of America.

There are stories of wild days in those early years in California, but Booth conquered an inherited tendency toward dissipation, and was an honor to the stage he adorned both as man and artist during his long life.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THEN AND NOW

Written on learning that lions are rapidly multiplying in Africa.

When I was young I used to fear
The jungle's wild environs
Would not produce from year to year
Enough ferocious lions.
For I was told the savage brutes,
Which fill the Blacks with terror,
The while they take their wild pursuits
Were daily growing rarer.

A lot of them I hoped to slay
As soon as I grow bigger;
I meant to stand alert all day
My finger on the trigger
To look the monster in the eye,
To waive an introduction,
And, when it sneered and snarled by,
To compass its destruction.

But every lion yarn I read
With industry intensive
With dire forebodings filled my head
And made me apprehensive.
No buffaloes roam o'er the plain,
No wolves romp on the prairies;
The last lone lion might be slain
Ere I went on safari.

These beasts today are far from rare;
They're found in gangs and batches.
They're multiplying everywhere,
So say the news dispatches.
Which just the other day I read:
But it would not befit me
To shoot a harmless quadruped
That never even bit me.

After supper pop was smoking and thinking and ma said, That's a good looking collar you're wearing, Willyum.

I like it myself, pop said. It's the very newest model, just released this week. It's called The Brushboro, don't ask me why. The man in the Dart Collar Shop assured me the Prince of Wales is wearing this selfsame model, and all I can say is, he's silly if he isn't, pop said.

Just released this week, imagine, my goodness, Willyum, you're certain up to date, ma said, and pop said, if anything I'm ahead of the times, I pride myself on it. The surest indication that a man's brain is dusty is the fact that his fashions are dusty. If a man wears 4 button coats when everybody else is wearing 2 button coats, 10 chances to eleven he's behind the times in every other way as well, with old fashion equipment in his office and cobwebs in the corners. I am proud to say that I wear Twentieth Century karters and Collegiate Club suspenders, and I consider that fact to be a direct reflection of the freshness of my mind and the lack of prejudice in my judgments, he said.

Of course, Willyum, I've always noticed that, ma said. In fact anybody that says you're behind the times must be blind as well as unobservant. If there's anything new going, you're the first one to take it up and the first one to let it drop for something still newer. And that brings me to the subject of the newest of the new, in other words a modern bedroom sweet, she said. Is there anything more out of place than a man's ultra modern collar in an old fashion bedro draw? she said.

Yee gods, it's a trap, pop said.

And he took ma to the movies, on account of that being the only way he could change the subject.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

SENSITIVE SPIRITS

The clamor and speed of modern life have dulled our capacity for sensitive response.

We must recapture this lost sensitiveness.

The arts in education can, I am sure, go far toward helping us effect this recapture.

I do not mean merely a sensitiveness of response to delicacy of sound, loveliness of form and richness of color.

Training in the arts obviously cultivates that sort of response.

I mean sensitiveness to the needs and conditions of man and society.

Artists generally are notoriously sensitive to human needs and social conditions and this is not mere accident, but a predictable result of their training in sensitive awareness.

Whether we shall be able really to put the bit in the teeth of the new powers arising out of science and the machine and ride them for human benefit instead of blight may well depend upon whether we can educate men to a greater sensitiveness of spirit so that our political, social and economic affairs shall be in the hands of men who actually feel a kinship with all humanity.

As I have so often argued in these articles, we need men who can feel the tug of famine in China as keenly as they might feel the cry of hunger from a brother's child.

We need men who can feel the tragedy of starving minds in the hinterlands of their states as poignantly as they might feel the pangs of the idiot-chatter of an abnormal offspring.

We need men who can feel the outrage of an annual report of industrial accidents, deaths from preventable disease or the spiritual slavery of illiteracy as they might feel the outrage of a brutal murder by gangsters on the next street corner.

We need men to whom stupidity, blundering or malevolence in political, social or economic leadership is as compelling a cry for help as the ravage of a plague.

To such sensitiveness of spirit I am convinced the arts in education can contribute.

This is one reason why we should think twice before we balance our school budgets at the expense of the arts.

NERVOUS

"My children are very nervous. I've never seen such sensitive children. Maybe they ought to have a good tonic, something to pep them up. What would you advise?"

Not the tonic unless their family physician examined them and found that they needed medicine. Usually nervous children need no medicine. They need another routine, another approach to living than the ones to which they have been accustomed and under which they have failed to adjust themselves.

When we say a child is nervous we say very little that is definite and informative. We usually mean that the child looks anxious, that he moves restlessly from one thing to another, that he cries easily or laughs too often. Instead of giving him medicine give him a holiday and study him to discover why he is nervous. Try to find what thought is disturbing his nervous system.

He has no nervous disease. If he had you would know it very quickly and the physician would care for him promptly. This nervousness that bothers the child and you arises from some disturbing thought, some group of associations that set up a feeling of insecurity, then of anxiety, then fear. These emotions give the child a queer feeling in the pit of his stomach. Little ripples of cold travel over him. His mind is restless. His thinking is confused. This makes him nervous.

How can we find what is troubling the child? If we could put his nervous system under a microscope we would see only healthy nerve tracts. No disease, no sign of trouble. Where is it? It is thought and thought is invisible. Its results are visible. A fear thought robs the skin of color, the digestive organs of all power to function, the mind of its control. Nothing can be done about it until we remove the fear thought. We displace one thought by another so the thing to do is to give the child a confidence thought, a thought of faith and hope and joy in the place of the fear thought.

It won't do to say to the child, "What is making you nervous? Why are you afraid?" Promptly he will say, "I'm not nervous. I am not afraid." Shall you say, "Yes you are?" That is the last thing you want to say so the best way out is to say nothing. Ride your time, lessen the pressure on the child.

There is a mummy preserved in St. James Church, Garlick Hill, London, which is over 250 years old. The mummy is that of a man, and there is no information as to who he was or how he became mummified.

Sometimes there are people about the child who make him afraid. Their voices, their talk, their habitual attitudes worry the child. He cannot explain his feeling, but it is there and until it can be removed the nervousness will be there to disturb him and to halt his growth.

I knew a little boy who was so fidgety and nervous that he did no classroom work and upon searching for the cause we learned that he feared something awful was going to happen in his family. There was a big and awful secret and it seemed to be coming nearer day by day and he could do nothing to save himself or his father and mother from it.

There was a secret. A baby was coming. When this was explained he laughed in relief and began to bloom like the green bay tree. Look for the cause. It may be as simple as that.
